Master Plan Proposed for Bridges, Roads Before Supervisors at Meeting on Tuesday

Building, Parking Study Asked

CC Is Interested In Workshop

A study of public buildings to determine present and future needs before the Board of Supervisors acts on a new county office building was proposed by directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce last night.

Other resolutions by the board of directors also asked a study by the city of a self-liquidating parking lot program, and favored a national flexible price-support program for agricultural products.

AMONG OTHER business at the session, conducted by J. Ellis Briggs, president, included authorization of a conference to study the possibility of organizing an industrial rehabilitation center.

It was proposed that the study on proposed building developments be made by the supervisors as part of a comprehensive plan for future area development. This would come before decision on the proposed new county building and would be made by a qualified expert before any decision as to location or other details.

A SPOKESMAN for the chamber said that full text of the resolution favoring a national, flexible price support program for agricultural products, would be promptly transmitted to proper officials and representatives.

Interested organizations and persons would be invited to the conference on the feasibility of an industrial rehabilitation center or sheltered workshop in the county. A date will be set in January.

At the membership meeting just prior to the meeting of the board of directors, the by-laws of the chamber were amended to provide for a new type of sustaining, non-voting form of membership at an annual rate to be determined by the board of directors.

A MEMBERSHIP report showed that 126 new memberships have been enrolled since the beginning of the fiscal year on May 1. To date 576 paid memberships have been received with 46 others still on the active list.

It was reported that plans are progressing for a business-education day, program in coopera-

Leaders Doubtful On Taxes

Not Much Relief Expected in Cuts

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—Top House leaders—and some senators—posed a big question mark today over prospects for cutting taxes next year.

In separate talks with newsmen, Speaker Rayburn (D.-Tex.) and Reps. Martin (R.-Mass.) and Cannon (D.-Mo.) voiced doubts that any substantial tax relief would be forthcoming. Sens. Byrd (D.-Va.) and Bridges (R.-N. H.) said a balanced budget is more important than a tax cut.

Chairman Cooper (D.-Tenn.) of the House Ways and Means Committee where tax legislation normally is originated declined to comment on the tax outlook for next year.

Rayburn is boss Democrat in the House; Martin is the top Republican, and Cannon heads the Appropriations Committee. In the Senate, Byrd is chairman of the Finance Committee, and Bridges is senior Republican of the Appropriations Committee.

THEIR PESSIMISM over the tax outlook differed from the attitude of Sen. George (D.-Ga.), an influential member of the Senate Finance Committee. He predicted yesterday that pressure for a tax cut "will be too great for Congress to resist."

George said earlier this week he believed taxes could be cut from 3 to 3½ billion next year. He cited no figure yesterday, but said he expects a cut some time during the year. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Senate Democratic leader, also has called for tax cuts.

SINCE TAX-RAISING and tax-cutting bills must originate in the House, the views of House leaders on the subject carry considerable weight on Capitol Hill.

Rayburn said he was far from convinced that taxes can be cut in the light of present world con-

Ruzzo Fined $500 for Not Filing Form

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP)—Victo Ruzzo, 53, of Kingston, was fined $500 in Federal Court yesterday for failing to file an income tax return in 1950.

The U. S. attorney's office said his gross income for that year was more than $167,000. The office listed his occupation as "primarily gambling."

Ruzzo pleaded guilty. Sentence was imposed by Judge James T. Foley.

Ruzzo's attorney, Joseph J. Casey, said that, although Ruzzo had been convicted several times on gambling charges, the 1950 income stemmed from "recognized business enterprises" such as a bowling alley and contracting. He said Ruzzo was unable to file a return in 1950 because internal revenue agents had his books and records.

Stores to Furnish Buses for Patrons

Kingston stores will remain open until 9 p. m. beginning this Thursday, with the gay Santa spirit mounting daily and area shoppers thronging into the city.

The stores will continue to stay open until 9 p. m. until Saturday, Dec. 24. On that day they will close at 5 p. m.

Opening of the Dietz Memorial Stadium to parking during the Christmas shopping season and free bus transportation for such parkers to and from Wall street has also been arranged by the Uptown Businessmen's Association.

Free parking at the stadium will be in addition to the parking lot off North Front street and the two county lots on John street and Main street.

Arrangements have been made to operate a free bus to and from Wall street and the stadium on a continuous basis during the weekends of the holiday season.

Steel Work To Pier 14 On Bridge

Steelwork on the super-structure of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge reached Pier 14, the first in the river, this week and is expected to continue as far as possible over the water this winter, it was learned today.

Preliminary work is also in progress for setting up plate girders on the east approach and finishing touches are in progress on the sub-structure.

Equipment used by the contractor the Merritt-Chapman & Scott, Corp., of New York, on the sub-structure in the river, was due to move out today, but work was still in progress on piers 22 and 25 on the east approach.

The Harris Structural Steel Company, of New York, contractor for the super-structure, it was indicated today, plans to complete as much as possible of the 400 feet of steelwork to be done eastward from Pier 14 this winter.

Steelwork on the super-structure will start from the east side to extend westward over the river as soon as the next 400 feet over the river piers is finished, from this side.

Work is expected to continue during this month and possibly longer to finish the east-side approach piers. Steelwork is expected to start on a large scale from the east side in the spring.

All work has been proceeding satisfactorily, to date, toward completion of the span in the fall of 1956.

Horticulturalists Come From Afar

Helpful Discussions Are Held for Growers

The 101st annual eastern meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society swung open its doors this morning at the state armory on Manor avenue for three days packed with speeches, panel discussions, demonstrations and conferences.

Approximately 60 exhibitors from many parts of the nation are participating. Visitors are expected from as far away as Canada and the Carolinas.

On display is the latest farm machinery, sprayers, graders, irrigation equipment, new synthetic insulating materials, new machines for bagging apples, refrigeration equipment, newest insecticides and fungicides, etc.

The show will continue daily until noon Friday.

D. W. Hamilton, entomologist-in-charge of the USDA Experiment Station, Vincennes, Ind., Ralph Dean of Poughkeepsie and A. A. LaPlante, extension entomologist at Cornell University, spoke to interested audiences this morning as the annual meeting got under way.

Mr. Hamilton, well-known for his work in Poughkeepsie, spoke on the subject, "Recent Experiences in Controlling Codling Moth in Indiana," pointing out that control of codling moth with DDT had not been satisfactory in certain orchards since 1952.

"Laboratory studies with 16 strains of codling moth have shown that at least three strains are resistant to DDT," he said. "Other factors that have caused increased codling moth injury during the past few seasons are the hot, dry seasons, increased use of concentrate and blower type equipment, so that

$700,000 More For Education

Yonkers, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP) Yonkers Common Council early today adopted a budget for 1956 calling for a $700,000 increase in education appropriations. The vote was 9 to 4.

City Manager Charles L. Curran said the increase was the result of an ultimatum by the state last April 11, threatening to withdraw state aid unless the city submits by Jan. 1 "sufficient evidence of an adequate program, both in respect to its educational offerings and its buildings . . ."

The total 1956 Yonkers budget is $24,470,242, of which the education department gets $6,431,000. State aid to the city's education is approximately 2½ million dollars a year.

Too Much News Suppression For Public, Judge Declares

Troy, Ala., Dec. 14 (AP)—The public's "right to know" is threatened by government censorship, Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones declared last night and he urged an all-out fight to beat it.

The Montgomery jurist, who presided over the vice trials at Phenix City, suggested the public must "stand up and strike out against" every public official who tries to suppress the news.

"There is too much secrecy in all departments of our government," he told the Troy Rotary Club, "especially in the executive departments."

Judge Jones, staunch champion of a free press, has advocated more latitude in coverage of court proceedings, including the right to take pictures in court.

"The people's right to know doesn't exist by official permission, indulgence or official discretion," he said. "The constitution, all the great traditions of our government, and the spirit of liberty entitle the people to know what the public officials are doing with their money and with the powers entrusted to them by the people.

"The right of the public to have the news of their officials and their elected representatives is a fundamental one, necessary to the very life of government itself, and essential to the hap-

Pre-Yule Retail Trade Making New Records, Survey Shows

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Christmas shoppers in Baltimore are buying handbags at $100 each. In Dallas, they're splurging on live Mexican burros with carts. Merchants along New York's Fifth avenue say diamonds and mink are "selling like crazy."

That's the pattern of Christmas buying this year. An Associated Press survey shows pre-Christmas retail trade in two dozen major cities smashing records right and left. People are spending more freely than ever before. And their preference seems to lean toward gadgets, gimmicks, luxury gifts and frills, rather than "practical" items.

Confidence that this year's Christmas volume will top the record levels of a year ago is evident from San Francisco to New York and Boston to Atlanta.

"We're ahead about 8 per cent," says President Herbert Wilson of Emery, Bird Thayer Co., Kansas City.

"Business is excellent," declares John P. Murphy, president of Higbee's, Cleveland. M. H. Segner, vice president of Seattle's Bon Marche, describes business as "very, very good—so far, it's 10 per cent more ahead of last year." A Los Angeles retailer finds shoppers "not just looking; they're buying. And they're buying good merchandise all the way down the line."

Reds Ask Emergency Session

Action Called to Meet UN Member Problem

United Nations, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP)—Russia today called for an emergency meeting of the UN Security Council to reconsider the deadlocked membership problem.

Word of the Russian move came as angry sponsors of the veto-riddled package deal demanded a full airing of the problem in the 60-nation General Assembly which previously had called upon the council to act favorably on the package deal.

Assembly President Jose Maza of Chile told the Assembly that it would get a chance to debate the problem again before the current session ends later this week. He said, however, he would not place it on the agenda until after the council had concluded its efforts to find a solution.

Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang said he had not been informed officially of the Soviet move. He declined to comment until he knew what agenda was proposed for the council meeting.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said he had no objections to the Soviet request.

"I shall renew my appeal to the Soviet Union to accept the 17," he said. This was a reference to previous U. S. appeals to Russia to agree to the admission of all nations in the package except Outer Mongolia.

In Washington, State Department Press Officer Lincoln White declared that Russia had taken a position "that the will of the majority be damned" when it cast 15 vetoes yesterday.

There was little or no hope that the plan could be revived, but angry sponsors of the package deal were ready to blast

Fluoridation of City Water Not In Definite Planning Stage Yet

Although fluoridation of water in Kingston has been under discussion by the Ulster County Health Department officials and members of the Kingston water board at times during the 10-year study period involving Kingston and Newburgh, there exists no proposed plan for fluoridation of city water, Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner, stated today.

Release of the findings in the Newburgh-Kingston 10-year test by Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, New York state health commissioner, this week at a meeting of the New York Institute of Clinical Oral Pathology in New York city, indicated a very substantial reduction of tooth decay and tooth loss in children where the water had been treated.

Over a 10-year period Newburgh water was treated while Kingston water remained untreated. In the 6 to 9 year control group in Newburgh there was a 58 per cent less tooth decay and missing teeth than youngsters in the same age group in Kingston.

Over the 10-year period while the control test was being made in Kingston and Newburgh no plans for fluoridation of drinking water was set up in Kingston pending completion of the test. The local water board has been so engaged in an extensive repair and extension program that the matter of fluoridation has been given little consideration.

The village of Highland has treated its supply since Feb. 14, 1953 but the result can be called variable since at first the addition of the sodium fluoride was not in exact quantities. Working with the county health department the village officials finally devised the proper technique and there has been effective fluoridation for about the past 18 months.

Dr. Hargrave said it might

Treason Trial Doubted for John

Bonn Probe of Defection To Reds Kept Under Cover

Bonn, Germany, Dec. 14 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his cabinet today discussed the sensational return to West Germany of former intelligence chief Otto John.

An Interior Ministry spokesman said John meanwhile was still under interrogation here. He said the questioning could last four or five days.

"John is giving information voluntarily," he said, "there has been nothing revealed so far that would justify the filing of any charges against him."

Nothing of what John was telling was announced. There was no confirmation of the report by a West German news agency that he had said a West Berlin physician, Dr. Wolfgang Wohlgemuth, had drugged him and kidnaped him from West Berlin.

Wohlgemuth left West Berlin with John and still is in East Germany.

Interior Minister Gerhard Schroeder, John's boss when the turncoat headed the West German counterespionage set up, reported to the cabinet on John's surprising return to the West.

Although authorities maintained silence on John's questioning and his future, official quarters doubted that he would be tried for treason. The government labeled him a traitor when he defected. Now many believe he could not be convicted because of the difficulty of proving he had betrayed any secrets to the Communists.

Bolstering this was Interior Minister Schroeder's statement last Monday that he did not believe John went over to the East with any "treasonable intent."

Some official sources expected the government to let John off with only disciplinary action for abandoning his official post.

Authorities Suggested For Study

No Action Taken To Vote on Plan

Following an inspection of highways and bridges in Ulster county last August by the committee on Highways and Bridges, appointed to survey the damage done to county highways and bridges by recent floods, that committee recommended the board of supervisors give consideration to a long range "master county highway plan."

The board took no action on the recommendation at last night's meeting.

IN THE REPORT to the board of supervisors the committee recommended two experts to be engaged to make a survey of highway and bridge conditions. In order that the best interests of the county be served it was suggested one expert be an outstanding, experienced and highly recommended highway planner and designer "to make the necessary studies and to pepare a master highway plan" and second to secure the services of an experienced bridge engineer to design the bridges and supervise their construction.

The committee stated at that time that if the highway and bridge problem was improperly handled it could result in the waste of many thousands of dollars of public funds.

TUESDAY EVENING Shortridge Harnesty of Harnesty & Hanover, bridge engineering firm of 101 Park avenue, New York city, and Robert H. Dodds of the engineering firm of Lockwood, Kessler & Bartlett, Inc., of Syosset, Long Island, appeared before the board and presented a plan for a preliminary survey which would be made on a cost basis. Should this preliminary survey disclose the need for further study, such study would be made by the firms which are prepared to make a complete study and submit completed plans as well as supervise the carrying out of the plan.

Both men addressed the board. Their discussions were in general terms, except that Mr. Harnesty presented a proposed plan for reconstruction of eight bridges in the county which he said were in dire need of replacement to carry present and future traffic. The cost of this work was estimated at $2,154,000 for structures and $323,000 for engineering, a total estimated cost of $2,477,000.

INCLUDED on the list were the following eight bridges:

Leggs Mills $416,000. Cantine $359,000. Sawkill School $199,000. Sauer Bridge $263,000. Woodland Valley $260,000. Alligerville $342,000, Bruynswick $236,000 and the "1776" bridge at Dwaarkill $79,000.

Harnesty & Hanover, specializing in bridge work and engineering since 1888, has designed many of the countries important bridges including such structures as rainbow bridge at Niagara Falls, Outerbridge and Goedtals bridges in New Jersey, Grand Island bridges, the span leading to Jones Beach and recently the twin New York Central lift bridges over the Harlem river. Mr. Harnesty said a survey had been made last September and it was found the eight bridges mentioned were narrow, too light for present day traffic and badly in need of replacement in this growing community. New structures would remain in appoximately the same location as now and serve the same communities except the Woodland Valley bridge which might be re-

$700,000 More For Education

Yonkers, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP) Yonkers Common Council early today adopted a budget for 1956 calling for a $700,000 increase in education appropriations. The vote was 9 to 4.

City Manager Charles L. Curran said the increase was the result of an ultimatum by the state last April 11, threatening to withdraw state aid unless the city submits by Jan. 1 "sufficient evidence of an adequate program, both in respect to its educational offerings and its buildings . . ."

The total 1956 Yonkers budget is $24,470,242, of which the education department gets $6,431,000. State aid to the city's education is approximately 2½ million dollars a year.

RETURNS TO WEST — Otto John, above, has returned from Red East Germany, the West German government announced in Bonn Dec. 13. John, former West German chief of counterintelligence, fled to East Germany 16 months ago. He gave himself up to West German Security Police, the announcement stated. (AP Wirephoto).

Pre-Yule Retail Trade Making New Records, Survey Shows

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Christmas shoppers in Baltimore are buying handbags at $100 each. In Dallas, they're splurging on live Mexican burros with carts. Merchants along New York's Fifth avenue say diamonds and mink are "selling like crazy."

That's the pattern of Christmas buying this year. An Associated Press survey shows pre-Christmas retail trade in two dozen major cities smashing records right and left. People are spending more freely than ever before. And their preference seems to lean toward gadgets, gimmicks, luxury gifts and frills, rather than "practical" items.

Confidence that this year's Christmas volume will top the record levels of a year ago is evident from San Francisco to New York and Boston to Atlanta.

"We're ahead about 8 per cent," says President Herbert Wilson of Emery, Bird Thayer Co., Kansas City.

"Business is excellent," declares John P. Murphy, president of Higbee's, Cleveland. M. H. Segner, vice president of Seattle's Bon Marche, describes business as "very, very good—so far, it's 10 per cent more ahead of last year." A Los Angeles retailer finds shoppers "not just looking; they're buying. And they're buying good merchandise all the way down the line."

Booming employment and high wages are boosting Christmas

Reds Ask Emergency Session

Action Called to Meet UN Member Problem

United Nations, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP)—Russia today called for an emergency meeting of the UN Security Council to reconsider the deadlocked membership problem.

Word of the Russian move came as angry sponsors of the veto-riddled package deal demanded a full airing of the problem in the 60-nation General Assembly which previously had called upon the council to act favorably on the package deal.

Assembly President Jose Maza of Chile told the Assembly that it would get a chance to debate the problem again before the current session ends later this week. He said, however, he would not place it on the agenda until after the council had concluded its efforts to find a solution.

Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang said he had not been informed officially of the Soviet move. He declined to comment until he knew what agenda was proposed for the council meeting.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said he had no objections to the Soviet request.

"I shall renew my appeal to the Soviet Union to accept the 17," he said. This was a reference to previous U. S. appeals to Russia to agree to the admission of all nations in the package except Outer Mongolia.

In Washington, State Department Press Officer Lincoln White declared that Russia had taken a position "that the will of the majority be damned" when it cast 15 vetoes yesterday.

There was little or no hope that the plan could be revived, but angry sponsors of the package deal were ready to blast

Fluoridation of City Water Not In Definite Planning Stage Yet

Although fluoridation of water in Kingston has been under discussion by the Ulster County Health Department officials and members of the Kingston water board at times during the 10-year study period involving Kingston and Newburgh, there exists no proposed plan for fluoridation of city water, Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner, stated today.

Release of the findings in the Newburgh-Kingston 10-year test by Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, New York state health commissioner, this week at a meeting of the New York Institute of Clinical Oral Pathology in New York city, indicated a very substantial reduction of tooth decay and tooth loss in children where the water had been treated.

Over a 10-year period Newburgh water was treated while Kingston water remained untreated. In the 6 to 9 year control group in Newburgh there was a 58 per cent less tooth decay and missing teeth than youngsters in the same age group in Kingston.

Over the 10-year period while the control test was being made in Kingston and Newburgh no plans for fluoridation of drinking water was set up in Kingston pending completion of the test. The local water board has been so engaged in an extensive repair and extension program that the matter of fluoridation has been given little consideration.

The village of Highland has treated its supply since Feb. 14, 1953 but the result can be called variable since at first the addition of the sodium fluoride was not in exact quantities. Working with the county health department the village officials finally devised the proper technique and there has been effective fluoridation for about the past 18 months.

Dr. Hargrave said it might

Treason Trial Doubted for John

Bonn Probe of Defection To Reds Kept Under Cover

Bonn, Germany, Dec. 14 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his cabinet today discussed the sensational return to West Germany of former intelligence chief Otto John.

An Interior Ministry spokesman said John meanwhile was still under interrogation here. He said the questioning could last four or five days.

"John is giving information voluntarily," he said, "there has been nothing revealed so far that would justify the filing of any charges against him."

Nothing of what John was telling was announced. There was no confirmation of the report by a West German news agency that he had said a West Berlin physician, Dr. Wolfgang Wohlgemuth, had drugged him and kidnaped him from West Berlin.

Wohlgemuth left West Berlin with John and still is in East Germany.

Interior Minister Gerhard Schroeder, John's boss when the turncoat headed the West German counterespionage set up, reported to the cabinet on John's surprising return to the West.

Although authorities maintained silence on John's questioning and his future, official quarters doubted that he would be tried for treason. The government labeled him a traitor when he defected. Now many believe he could not be convicted because of the difficulty of proving he had betrayed any secrets to the Communists.

Bolstering this was Interior Minister Schroeder's statement last Monday that he did not believe John went over to the East with any "treasonable intent."

Some official sources expected the government to let John off with only disciplinary action for abandoning his official post.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

BY HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—One of the best how-to-do-it-yourself books is at hand—and I don't know which hand to throw it from.

It destroys my whole sense of perspective.

The title is, "How to Gain an Extra Hour Every Day."

THE REASON I don't dare throw it from either hand is that just by looking at it my whole life has changed. I started to throw this book away with the left hand, and now I've determined to go back to the starboard muscle. With it I can hurl further. But I am confused. Thereby I've gained a minute—and, frankly, I don't know how to invest it.

I hate to have this minute go astray in the long horology of time. But I really don't know what else to do with it.

That's my trouble. Most of the people I know don't find enough time to do half the things on their minds. I find I have more than double the time on my hands to do the things on my mind. Except for one thing, that is—and that's to loaf.

I ALWAYS RUN out of loafing time, which to me is thinking-time, growing-up-time, getting-away-from-it-all-time, getting-back-to-you - whoever-you-are-time.

Naturally, when I think about serious problems like these I'm not really loafing. I'm ordinarily just getting drowsy, as I lean tiredly against my tall friendly Irish wolfhound and wave hello to guests coming across the meek drawbridge of my existence.

This volume about "How to Gain an Extra Hour Every Day" is written by Ray Josephs, a triple threat career man himself—author, public relations specialist and homemaker, here and in South America.

This book opens a new world to me, and I want to get out of it. But it fascinates me and gives me a sense of guilt.

ON ITS COVER the book says "Everyone needs more time for the things he really wants to do." (And more opportunities also.)

It offers 243 time-saving techniques, developed by "scores of America's best-known, busiest people."

It tells, for example, how "Sam Goldwyn breaks up those long time-wasting luncheons by discussing business before eating." It doesn't go into the question of who is able to eat when the discussion is over.

THE BOOK ALSO tells how President Eisenhower "has learned to bathe, shave and dress in 20 minutes or less—almost 10 to 15 fewer than most men—by using a routine developed over his many years as a military man."

Former president Harry Truman shares with General Eisenhower this talent of being a fast morning dresser.

But I like Joseph's description of how the former British Prime Minister safeguards his hours against waste.

"Sir Winston Churchill," he points out, "does half his day's work in bed; gets added rest while accomplishing twice as much in half the previous, constantly interrupted office time."

THIS IS THE soundest of all Mr. Joseph's 243 different ways to save time. The gamble is great but the possible reward is fascinating.

Who wouldn't dare the possibility of unemployment if by staying in bed half of every day a fellow might hope to become prime minister of England?

The problem of how to gain an extra hour every day would'nt seem so bad if a man could spend it in bed admiring other people.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

BY HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—One of the best how-to-do-it-yourself books is at hand—and I don't know which hand to throw it from.

It destroys my whole sense of perspective.

The title is, "How to Gain an Extra Hour Every Day."

THE REASON I don't dare throw it from either hand is that just by looking at it my whole life has changed. I started to throw this book away with the left hand, and now I've determined to go back to the starboard muscle. With it I can hurl further. But I am confused. Thereby I've gained a minute—and, frankly, I don't know how to invest it.

I hate to have this minute go astray in the long horology of time. But I really don't know what else to do with it.

That's my trouble. Most of the people I know don't find enough time to do half the things on their minds. I find I have more than double the time on my hands to do the things on my mind. Except for one thing, that is—and that's to loaf.

I ALWAYS RUN out of loafing time, which to me is thinking-time, growing-up-time, getting-away-from-it-all-time, getting-back-to-you - whoever-you-are-time.

Naturally, when I think about serious problems like these I'm not really loafing. I'm ordinarily just getting drowsy, as I lean tiredly against my tall friendly Irish wolfhound and wave hello to guests coming across the meek drawbridge of my existence.

This volume about "How to Gain an Extra Hour Every Day" is written by Ray Josephs, a triple threat career man himself—author, public relations specialist and homemaker, here and in South America.

This book opens a new world to me, and I want to get out of it. But it fascinates me and gives me a sense of guilt.

ON ITS COVER the book says "Everyone needs more time for the things he really wants to do." (And more opportunities also.)

It offers 243 time-saving techniques, developed by "scores of America's best-known, busiest people."

It tells, for example, how "Sam Goldwyn breaks up those long time-wasting luncheons by discussing business before eating." It doesn't go into the question of who is able to eat when the discussion is over.

THE BOOK ALSO tells how President Eisenhower "has learned to bathe, shave and dress in 20 minutes or less—almost 10 to 15 fewer than most men—by using a routine developed over his many years as a military man."

Former president Harry Truman shares with General Eisenhower this talent of being a fast morning dresser.

But I like Joseph's description of how the former British Prime Minister safeguards his hours against waste.

"Sir Winston Churchill," he points out, "does half his day's work in bed; gets added rest while accomplishing twice as much in half the previous, constantly interrupted office time."

THIS IS THE soundest of all Mr. Joseph's 243 different ways to save time. The gamble is great but the possible reward is fascinating.

FLUORIDATION REPORT

Reports of the Newburgh - Kingston caries fluorine study provides irrefutable evidence that fluoridation of drinking water is safe and effective and the evidence does not justify the postponement of water fluoridation, the State Department of Health has announced.

The ten-year experiment was started in May, 1945 when Newburgh had its water supply treated with sodium fluoride to bring the fluorine content up to one part of a million. Kingston serving as a control center, continued to use its fluoride deficient supply.

After a general medical examination by a qualified pediatrician, no differences of medical significance could be found between the two groups of children, those in Newburgh who drank water fluoridated and those in Kingston who served as a control group and did not drink fluoridated water, it was reported.

The effectiveness of the process following the ten-year study claimed in the summary that children in the six to nine age group who had been drinking fluoridated water all their lives had 58 per cent less tooth decay than Kingston children of the same age.

Newburgh children 10 to 12 years old who had lived there continuously since 1945 had a rate 52 per cent lower than Kingston children of similar age. The 13 to 14 age group was lower by 48 per cent and the 16 year old group was lower by 41 per cent.

Opponents of fluoridation have claimed there is no actual scientific experiment to date which will prove that no harm will come to the older segment of the population, particularly those with kidney disease, diabetes, tuberculosis, etc. They also say that a certain percentage of the children will get "mottled enamel."

Any adult who himself has suffered from tooth decay would go to considerable lengths to spare his children from the same costly experiment.

The extent of tooth decay in this country is well illustrated by the large number of men turned down for military service because of it.

The report of the State Health Department indicates that the facts necessary to informed decision have been rounded up. The next move now is up to the municipalities of the state.

All of us cast shadows of various sizes and hues as we step through life. Conscience, however, is the one we always have to respect.

WHAT FRESHMEN KNOW

Asked what he thinks of the proposed two-year course for colleges, President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University said, "I cannot imagine how anyone who ever saw a sophomore can think of graduating a student in that condition."

This would be even truer of freshmen if the disturbing tests given at Miami University in Ohio are any criterion. There Professor Preston B. Albright quizzed 86 freshmen on American history, and learned that they knew few if any dates. Many had no idea when this country began. Asked to date the War Between the States, some put it in 1560. Many, when asked to name 20 Presidents, included such persons as Benjamin Franklin, William Jennings Bryan and Jefferson Davis. When asked to name two outstanding labor leaders, they came forth with such names as Ex-President Truman and the late Senator Robert A. Taft.

Evidently American history is not taught or at least not remembered in high school. Do the teachers pass every pupil, so as not to have to argue with angry parents? Or is the lack of background in the American home responsible?

Most of the old faithful television shows are getting back into the channels once again—still old, at least.

He who laughs, may last—but longer usually if he uses discretion when.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

JUDICIAL DICTATORSHIP

As one reads the decision of Judge Luther W. Youngdahl on passport matters, it would appear, even from his own words, that the fundamental principle of separation of powers, while he acknowledges them, does not prevent him from interfering with both the Executive and Legislative branches.

For instance, Judge Youngdahl says:

". . . The court is satisfied that the Secretary of State is necessarily empowered to make reasonable classifications of persons who are to be granted or denied passports. . . ."

However, he objects to the Secretary of State changing his attitude at different times.

"The rather contradictory shifts in position by the Government regarding this plaintiff renders suspect the standard for determing the right to a passport under Section 51.135 of the Passport Regulations. . . ."

Then he goes on to say:

". . . While Section 51.135 does not appear to set forth an unreasonable classification, it must be conceded that it is sweeping in nature and does permit exceedingly wide discretion to the Department of State to deny passports. This being so, fair play requires that one have the opportunity to challenge the basis of, and reasons for, a denial under this section directly and specifically. . . ."

It does not appear to be clear, from the Act, that this is any of the judge's business. If passports are within the discretion of the Secretary of State, under the law, as the judge concedes, he may, of course, deny that it is a good law. But he does not quite say that. What he does say is:

"To uphold Section 51.170 would grant to the Government the right to deny passports in an uncontrolleed manner, with virtually absolute authority at any time and in any way it seems fit. . . ."

If Congress authorizes the exercise of such authority by the Executive, it can only be wrong if a specific provision of the Constitution is violated. At no point does Judge Youngdahl indicate that this Act is a violation of the Constitution except that if Section 51.170 is "used in conjunction with" Section 51.135 it does not provide due process.

It would now seem that the entire matter is up to Congress. The Constitution does not provide for the free issuance of passports nor does it forbid the issuance of passports or establishment of regulations by the Executive concerning them. As a matter of fact, there is not a word on the subject in the Constitution.

A passport or safe conduct was originally issued in time of war and was a document granting persons or property "a specified exemption for the time being from the operations of war." It has been extended to include peace time operations, permitting a person to move from one country to another. The American passport has been described as a document of identity and nationality issued only to persons owing allegiance to the United States. The bearer is not only permitted to move from country to country but he is entitled to ask for and receive protection and good offices of American diplomatic consular and offices abroad. In case of need they are to give him aid and protection. The Government of the United States has consistently maintained that the passport is its property, to be returned on request. On January 30, 1931, the Solicitor of the State Department wrote:

". . . The issuing government always . . . retains a permanent right to a passport. This right has frequently been exercised by our Government, not only in demanding the return of old passports by persons to whom new passports are granted, but also in authorizing officials in this country and diplomatic and consular officers abroad to take up passports which are being used for improper purposes."

The Youngdahl decision requires the State Department to issue passports willy-willy even when, in the judgment of its officers, the United States can be harmed by the person involved. This is definitely withholding from the Executive power granted to him by the Constitution to conduct the foreign affairs of this country.

The authority of the Secretary of State to issue passports is defined by law. The Act states that the Secretary "may" issue passports; nothing in the Act makes it mandatory. There is no law which gives a citizen a right to a passport; the law only says that one may be issued to him!

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HOW DOES THE NURSE FARE?

Mary Carter is one of the best staff nurses at Willow General Hospital. She received her three-year training as a professional registered nurse from Willow's Hospital School of Nursing and joined the staff when she earned her diploma. Her education cost her about $300 and hours of service which she was required to give the hospital — to say nothing of the three years she dedicated to this preparation. How is she doing now?

Her pay is low — much less than Betty Gray's for instance. Betty's a high-school friend of Mary's who took a clerical job after graduation. During the years that Mary studied and worked in nursing school and at the hospital, Betty was getting promotions until she became secretary to one of the officials of her company, earning $80 a week. Betty's regular 37-hour week gives her time to go out, to take some evening courses and join some clubs. Mary, on the other hand, works at least 40 hours a week, her schedule changes from week to week, making it difficult to have any kind of regular, planned outside life. Mary's low salary — less than $60 a week — hardly makes up for the exacting pressures of her work.

If Mary gets sick, she will not (like her friend Betty) have any medical or health insurance plan to fall back on, unless she has managed to subscribe and pay the costs herself, and her hospital provides no retirement plan. This is a dreary picture but unfortunately all too typical of general hospital nurses, the largest group of all professional nurses.

What about the private nurse, the free-lancer of the profession, who devotes all her attenion to one patient at a time. Private duty fees for an eight-hour period vary by state with $12 and $14 the most frequent rates. At the $14 rate, a nurse working seven straight days would get $98 which may seem high but actually the $14 rate amounts to $70 for a five-day, forty-hour week. No private duty nurse can work continuously, week after week. Like physicians, her income stops when she is off duty. She has no paid vacations or sick leave and she alone contributes to her Social Security as a self-employed person. Her security is her ability to go on working and saving for illness, vacations and retirement.

I have obtained the above information from Public Affairs Pamphlet No. 60 A which goes on to point out that the nursing shortage is also caused by the fact that there are simply more people to take care of — while the population has been increasing, a larger and larger number of people have been using hospitals. This is because more people who need hospital care are able to obtain it. It is only recently that the majority of citizens have been able to afford it — hospital prepayment plans were practically unheard of 20 years ago. Today they have grown into a nationwide movement which shows that 104,000,000 men and women and children in the United States were covered by the various plans. However, if we enter the hospital, we need nursing care and this would seem to be a profession that is definitely underpaid by today's standards.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington —(NEA)— Signs are multiplying that President Eisenhower will be persuaded to run for a second term.

This is forcing millions of American voters to make one of those "agonizing reappraisals."

Fact Number One they have to face is the record of what happened in 1944.

The Democrats had built up the indispensability of President Roosevelt. He was elected for a fourth term even though he was obviously a sick man all through his last year in office. He died five months later.

Knowing that President Eisenhower has had a heart attack, there will be a calculated risk that he might suffer a relapse. He might be unable to carry on his job.

Are the voters willing to assume responsibility for that?

Or put the question another way:

Knowing the President's age and physical condition, would the American people be willing to condemn him to an unnaturally early breakdown by asking him to assume the heavy White House responsibilities for another four years?

FACT NUMBER TWO is that President Eisenhower is not likely to cast aside his vice president, Richard M. Nixon.

What this means is that if the President is not able to run for a second term—or if he is not able to complete a second term—Nixon is his logical successor.

A runaway Republican National Convention might upset this choice. But an open Eisenhower endorsement of Nixon would make his rejection unlikely.

As vice president, Nixon has so far given complete support to the Eisenhower policies. But there is some doubt that if Nixon should succeed to the presidency, the Eisenhower program of moderate progressivism would be continued.

As one California GOP leader puts it, tongue in cheek: "The people who support Nixon believe in repealing the income tax and withdrawing from the United Nations."

The question for the voters, therefore, is whether they want a retreat from the Eisenhower program.

FACT NUMBER THREE is that there is still a sizable element in the Republican party which does not approve of Eisenhower's internationalism and limited progressivism.

This GOP Old Guard would prefer to see Eisenhower succeeded by a more conservative president. Much of the support for an Eisenhower-Nixon — or preferably an Eisenhower-Knowland ticket—comes from this group.

The question for the voters is whether they want to see a further swing to the right.

FACT NUMBER FOUR is that there is a concerted effort being made to lighten the President's work load.

Such a reform has, of course, been long overdue. Coming at this particular time, however, it has the added implication of making it easier for a semi-invalid to carry on the job without strain.

Some of the people who think Eisenhower goes too far towards liberalism would probably like to see this happen.

They'd be perfectly willing to have an inactive President in the White House as an idealistic symbol, with a more conservative cabinet actually running the government.

The question for the voters is whether they want a part-time President continued in office.

These are four stark and perhaps inconsiderate questions to raise. But they are being freely discussed in Washington and probably every other crossroad in the country. And there is no reason why they shouldn't be brought out in the open and freely debated now.

Eisenhower Is Seen Putting Service Ahead of Health

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 14—What is Dwight Eisenhower's basic attitude toward public service—is it the health and convenience of an individual or the needs of one's country which must be given priority?

This question was once answered by Mr. Eisenhower in an episode that various persons in Washington are talking about now because it may throw light on the processes of the President's mind when he comes to the point of making a decision next year on whether or not to serve a second term.

IT HAPPENED in 1942 when General Eisenhower was in London preparing for the invasion of North Africa. He had as chief of staff of the Allied forces Walter Bedell Smith, then a brigadier general. The latter had served in Washington as secretary of the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff and also as United States Secretary of the Combined Chiefs of Staff.

When Gen. Smith came to London in October, 1942, he took on a series of heavy conferences daily and, after one of these sessions, Winston Churchill warned Gen. Eisenhower that Gen. Smith was looking badly and ought to be sent to the hospital. It was not long afterward that the Chief Surgeon, Gen. Hawley, told Gen. Eisenhower that Gen. Smith had bleeding ulcers and that, unless he was sent home, Gen. Smith "might be dead in six months." "There'll be a lot of people dead in six months—in North Africa and in other places," was Gen. Eisenhower's reply as he turned down the suggestion. Gen. Smith, after two weeks of hospitalization, went on to serve as Ike's Chief of Staff for nearly four years until after the end of the war. He later was for three years United States Ambassador to Russia and then became head of the CIA and subsequently Undersecretary of State. He is now an executive in private business.

There was in this instance, moreover, an intimate friendship which might have induced greater personal concern about the risks involved, but Dwight Eisenhower's point of view has always been that the needs of the United States come fist.

IT IS TRUE that the incident occurred during wartime, but the way things shape up today inside the government—with the navy and the air force constantly on a twenty-four-hour-alert basis—it is well known that the "cold war" is considered in some respects as dangerous as some stages of a "hot war." Certainly, in an international crisis, skillful leadership and experience are so essential that many close observers of Dwight Eisenhower's whole attitude toward public service now are saying that, if the country really wants him to serve on, a sense of duty will persuade him to do so.

President Eisenhower's heart attack hasn't affected his mental capacity or acrumen. Officials who have attended recent conferences with him, both of the cabinet and the National Security Council, say that he is even sharper than before in cutting through lengthy debate or rambling remarks and bringing his conferees back to the main point under discussion. They say he is as penetrating in his analysis of public questions, domestic and foreign, as he always has been.

Representative Clarence Cannon, Democrat, of Missouri, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said after a legislative conference at the White House this week: "I was gratified to note the alertness, the aggressiveness of the President in conducting the conference. He was as active as any boy sixteen years old. He was the picture of health."

THE OPINION is crystallizing that, in the event that the doctors give Ike advice saying he is physically able to continue in office if he so desires, the President will not seek to be a candidate but will tell the American people something to this effect: "I had no desire to come to public office in the first place. I think there are able men to be found to succeed me. But if the people want me to serve, I shall obey their wish and serve if elected."

It was Woodrow Wilson who in a world crisis in 1916—before America entered World War 1—refrained from "seeking" a second term in the presidency. He stood by his statement made as President-elect in February, 1913, when he wrote:

"I can approach the question from a perfectly impersonal point of view, because I shall most cheerfully abide by the judgment of my party and the public as to whether I shall be a candidate for the presidency again in 1916. I absolutely pledge myself to resort to nothing but public opinion to decide that question."

MAYBE HISTORY will repeat itself, and the people themselves will have to decide whether Dwight Eisenhower should be renominated.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The merger of the AF of L and the CIO is a menace, the more ominous because it proves in flat, final terms, the brutal cynicism of politicians of both national parties.

At this sad hour the tragic condition of Joe Ryan, the old deposed president of the International Longshoremen's Association, reveals the cruel character of the sordid trade called politics. Last winter George Meany, the president of the AF of L and now president of the grand cabal, received from Notre Dame University a medal intended to confer honor on all who receive it. He will be collecting many trashy baubles from others equally eager to capitalize his spurious distinction but well knowing that he has never been anything but a political boss of chartered job-trusts.

Joe Ryan is the one man who kept off the Atlantic and Gulf coasts Harry Bridges and the Communist goons and saboteurs behind him and his CIO union of longshoremen. Joe Ryan is the one man who planted George Meany in the presidency of the New York State Federation of Labor, who promoted him into national rank in the American Federation of labor — in short who put George Meany where he is today. Yet Ryan drags himself wearily on his dull little personal errands down around Chelsea Village, New York, his heart dead within him, deserted by men who owe everything to him, hounded by the state and federal governments, broke, sick and despondent.

Meany and every other veteran of the old, crude, roughneck union rackets and fights not only on the waterfront but in the building trades and teaming, knew the coarse brutal facts of life in Joe Ryan's bailiwick many years ago. They didn't protest then. Most of them were his political accomplices and that certainly includes George Meany whose countenance now beams from the papers with all the fine character and expression of a portrait of a hoop.

The New York County Grand Jury indicted Ryan after the Mr. Big investigation but it did not indict Mr. Big, himself, the United States Grand Jury indicted Joe for something concerning his income tax but it did not indict Mr. Big. The Department of Justice hounded Joe with a nasty persecution under the Taft-Hartley Act when thousands of other flagrant, open-and-shut cases were howling for action all over the United States.

Tom Dewey made a deal with Ryan's old colleague and beneficial protege, George Meany, to chase a busted, broken crippled old fighter off the docks which he had defended against the Communists throughout the war when the CIO was hogging scarce and precious air transportation from San Francisco and Seattle to the east coast ports to conspire with treacherous New Deal unioneers of the CIO. They were preparing to seize the ports as soon as Russia was saved from the Nazis.

At Dewey's behest, and Meany's, though it was strictly none of Dewey's business, being a federal matter, the Labor Relations Board held an election under legal supervision. Dewey is not a good judge of elections as we observed in 1944 and 1948. In this case he and Meany were knocked off the deep end by an inspiring demonstration of masculine loyalty by Joe Ryan's dock-wallopers. Dewey and Meany then raised a bleat of "intimidation" although the vote had been closely scrutinized on their own terms. They got another chance and Ryan beat them again thanks to the anger and contempt of his men loyal to a better code than politicians know. The great unioneer, George Meany, who now wears the Notre Dame bottle-cap on his lapel, was piously resorting to the worst sin in the decalog of all labor rackets—dual-unionism. He was setting up a rival to displace the old established racket whose evils he had lived with in moral complacency and physical luxury simply because Ryan's men had chased his stooges back inshore from the docks.

Little Lou Waldman, the old-time "labor lawyer" and author of a fine treatise under that title, stuck to Joe. His client was broke now and his case represented nothing better than an uncollectible account, but Lou was loyal. He got Joe a hung jury in the state case and got a reversal in the Taft-Hartley job, which now goes, however, to the Supreme Court on the government's appeal.

For years Mrs. Ryan was wasting with cancer. They all knew that.

Six weeks ago she died and the old man's shuffle was feebler as he wandered along the docks, the night before her funeral.

The next morning by request of Joe Ryan's loyal men, the cortege went west to the river and work stopped and the dock-wallopers fell in before the piers with their heads bared and bowed.

Politicians and hypocritical ideologians always are ready and diligent to organize "Citizen's Committees" to defend obvious Communists and reptilian fellow-travelers.

Why do they continue to hound a sick man drowning in tragedy with one cheap, cruel legal pretext after another?

FLUORIDATION REPORT

Reports of the Newburgh - Kingston caries fluorine study provides irrefutable evidence that fluoridation of drinking water is safe and effective and the evidence does not justify the postponement of water fluoridation, the State Department of Health has announced.

The ten-year experiment was started in May, 1945 when Newburgh had its water supply treated with sodium fluoride to bring the fluorine content up to one part of a million. Kingston serving as a control center, continued to use its fluoride deficient supply.

After a general medical examination by a qualified pediatrician, no differences of medical significance could be found between the two groups of children, those in Newburgh who drank water fluoridated and those in Kingston who served as a control group and did not drink fluoridated water, it was reported.

The effectiveness of the process following the ten-year study claimed in the summary that children in the six to nine age group who had been drinking fluoridated water all their lives had 58 per cent less tooth decay than Kingston children of the same age.

Newburgh children 10 to 12 years old who had lived there continuously since 1945 had a rate 52 per cent lower than Kingston children of similar age. The 13 to 14 age group was lower by 48 per cent and the 16 year old group was lower by 41 per cent.

Opponents of fluoridation have claimed there is no actual scientific experiment to date which will prove that no harm will come to the older segment of the population, particularly those with kidney disease, diabetes, tuberculosis, etc. They also say that a certain percentage of the children will get "mottled enamel."

Any adult who himself has suffered from tooth decay would go to considerable lengths to spare his children from the same costly experiment.

The extent of tooth decay in this country is well illustrated by the large number of men turned down for military service because of it.

The report of the State Health Department indicates that the facts necessary to informed decision have been rounded up. The next move now is up to the municipalities of the state.

All of us cast shadows of various sizes and hues as we step through life. Conscience, however, is the one we always have to respect.

WHAT FRESHMEN KNOW

Asked what he thinks of the proposed two-year course for colleges, President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University said, "I cannot imagine how anyone who ever saw a sophomore can think of graduating a student in that condition."

This would be even truer of freshmen if the disturbing tests given at Miami University in Ohio are any criterion. There Professor Preston B. Albright quizzed 86 freshmen on American history, and learned that they knew few if any dates. Many had no idea when this country began. Asked to date the War Between the States, some put it in 1560. Many, when asked to name 20 Presidents, included such persons as Benjamin Franklin, William Jennings Bryan and Jefferson Davis. When asked to name two outstanding labor leaders, they came forth with such names as Ex-President Truman and the late Senator Robert A. Taft.

Evidently American history is not taught or at least not remembered in high school. Do the teachers pass every pupil, so as not to have to argue with angry parents? Or is the lack of background in the American home responsible?

Most of the old faithful television shows are getting back into the channels once again—still old, at least.

He who laughs, may last—but longer usually if he uses discretion when.

JUDICIAL DICTATORSHIP

As one reads the decision of Judge Luther W. Youngdahl on passport matters, it would appear, even from his own words, that the fundamental principle of separation of powers, while he acknowledges them, does not prevent him from interfering with both the Executive and Legislative branches.

For instance, Judge Youngdahl says:

". . . The court is satisfied that the Secretary of State is necessarily empowered to make reasonable classifications of persons who are to be granted or denied passports. . . ."

However, he objects to the Secretary of State changing his attitude at different times.

"The rather contradictory shifts in position by the Government regarding this plaintiff renders suspect the standard for determing the right to a passport under Section 51.135 of the Passport Regulations. . . ."

Then he goes on to say:

". . . While Section 51.135 does not appear to set forth an unreasonable classification, it must be conceded that it is sweeping in nature and does permit exceedingly wide discretion to the Department of State to deny passports. This being so, fair play requires that one have the opportunity to challenge the basis of, and reasons for, a denial under this section directly and specifically. . . ."

It does not appear to be clear, from the Act, that this is any of the judge's business. If passports are within the discretion of the Secretary of State, under the law, as the judge concedes, he may, of course, deny that it is a good law. But he does not quite say that. What he does say is:

"To uphold Section 51.170 would grant to the Government the right to deny passports in an uncontrolleed manner, with virtually absolute authority at any time and in any way it seems fit. . . ."

If Congress authorizes the exercise of such authority by the Executive, it can only be wrong if a specific provision of the Constitution is violated. At no point does Judge Youngdahl indicate that this Act is a violation of the Constitution except that if Section 51.170 is "used in conjunction with" Section 51.135 it does not provide due process.

It would now seem that the entire matter is up to Congress. The Constitution does not provide for the free issuance of passports nor does it forbid the issuance of passports or establishment of regulations by the Executive concerning them. As a matter of fact, there is not a word on the subject in the Constitution.

A passport or safe conduct was originally issued in time of war and was a document granting persons or property "a specified exemption for the time being from the operations of war." It has been extended to include peace time operations, permitting a person to move from one country to another. The American passport has been described as a document of identity and nationality issued only to persons owing allegiance to the United States. The bearer is not only permitted to move from country to country but he is entitled to ask for and receive protection and good offices of American diplomatic consular and offices abroad. In case of need they are to give him aid and protection. The Government of the United States has consistently maintained that the passport is its property, to be returned on request. On January 30, 1931, the Solicitor of the State Department wrote:

". . . The issuing government always . . . retains a permanent right to a passport. This right has frequently been exercised by our Government, not only in demanding the return of old passports by persons to whom new passports are granted, but also in authorizing officials in this country and diplomatic and consular officers abroad to take up passports which are being used for improper purposes."

The Youngdahl decision requires the State Department to issue passports willy-willy even when, in the judgment of its officers, the United States can be harmed by the person involved. This is definitely withholding from the Executive power granted to him by the Constitution to conduct the foreign affairs of this country.

The authority of the Secretary of State to issue passports is defined by law. The Act states that the Secretary "may" issue passports; nothing in the Act makes it mandatory. There is no law which gives a citizen a right to a passport; the law only says that one may be issued to him!

That Body of Yours

HOW DOES THE NURSE FARE?

Mary Carter is one of the best staff nurses at Willow General Hospital. She received her three-year training as a professional registered nurse from Willow's Hospital School of Nursing and joined the staff when she earned her diploma. Her education cost her about $300 and hours of service which she was required to give the hospital — to say nothing of the three years she dedicated to this preparation. How is she doing now?

Her pay is low — much less than Betty Gray's for instance. Betty's a high-school friend of Mary's who took a clerical job after graduation. During the years that Mary studied and worked in nursing school and at the hospital, Betty was getting promotions until she became secretary to one of the officials of her company, earning $80 a week. Betty's regular 37-hour week gives her time to go out, to take some evening courses and join some clubs. Mary, on the other hand, works at least 40 hours a week, her schedule changes from week to week, making it difficult to have any kind of regular, planned outside life. Mary's low salary — less than $60 a week — hardly makes up for the exacting pressures of her work.

If Mary gets sick, she will not (like her friend Betty) have any medical or health insurance plan to fall back on, unless she has managed to subscribe and pay the costs herself, and her hospital provides no retirement plan. This is a dreary picture but unfortunately all too typical of general hospital nurses, the largest group of all professional nurses.

What about the private nurse, the free-lancer of the profession, who devotes all her attenion to one patient at a time. Private duty fees for an eight-hour period vary by state with $12 and $14 the most frequent rates. At the $14 rate, a nurse working seven straight days would get $98 which may seem high but actually the $14 rate amounts to $70 for a five-day, forty-hour week. No private duty nurse can work continuously, week after week. Like physicians, her income stops when she is off duty. She has no paid vacations or sick leave and she alone contributes to her Social Security as a self-employed person. Her security is her ability to go on working and saving for illness, vacations and retirement.

I have obtained the above information from Public Affairs Pamphlet No. 60 A which goes on to point out that the nursing shortage is also caused by the fact that there are simply more people to take care of — while the population has been increasing, a larger and larger number of people have been using hospitals. This is because more people who need hospital care are able to obtain it. It is only recently that the majority of citizens have been able to afford it — hospital prepayment plans were practically unheard of 20 years ago. Today they have grown into a nation-wide movement which shows that 104,000,000 men and women and children in the United States were covered by the various plans. However, if we enter the hospital, we need nursing care and this would seem to be a profession that is definitely underpaid by today's standards.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington —(NEA)— Signs are multiplying that President Eisenhower will be persuaded to run for a second term.

This is forcing millions of American voters to make one of those "agonizing reappraisals."

Fact Number One they have to face is the record of what happened in 1944.

The Democrats had built up the indispensability of President Roosevelt. He was elected for a fourth term even though he was obviously a sick man all through his last year in office. He died five months later.

Knowing that President Eisenhower has had a heart attack, there will be a calculated risk that he might suffer a relapse. He might be unable to carry on his job.

Are the voters willing to assume responsibility for that?

Or put the question another way:

Knowing the President's age and physical condition, would the American people be willing to condemn him to an unnaturally early breakdown by asking him to assume the heavy White House responsibilities for another four years?

FACT NUMBER TWO is that President Eisenhower is not likely to cast aside his vice president, Richard M. Nixon.

What this means is that if the President is not able to run for a second term—or if he is not able to complete a second term—Nixon is his logical successor.

A runaway Republican National Convention might upset this choice. But an open Eisenhower endorsement of Nixon would make his rejection unlikely.

As vice president, Nixon has so far given complete support to the Eisenhower policies. But there is some doubt that if Nixon should succeed to the presidency, the Eisenhower program of moderate progressivism would be continued.

As one California GOP leader puts it, tongue in cheek: "The people who support Nixon believe in repealing the income tax and withdrawing from the United Nations."

The question for the voters, therefore, is whether they want a retreat from the Eisenhower program.

FACT NUMBER THREE is that there is still a sizable element in the Republican party which does not approve of Eisenhower's internationalism and limited progressivism.

This GOP Old Guard would prefer to see Eisenhower succeeded by a more conservative president. Much of the support for an Eisenhower-Nixon — or preferably an Eisenhower-Knowland ticket—comes from this group.

The question for the voters is whether they want to see a further swing to the right.

FACT NUMBER FOUR is that there is a concerted effort being made to lighten the President's work load.

Such a reform has, of course, been long overdue. Coming at this particular time, however, it has the added implication of making it easier for a semi-invalid to carry on the job without strain.

Some of the people who think Eisenhower goes too far towards liberalism would probably like to see this happen.

They'd be perfectly willing to have an inactive President in the White House as an idealistic symbol, with a more conservative cabinet actually running the government.

The question for the voters is whether they want a part-time President continued in office.

These are four stark and perhaps inconsiderate questions to raise. But they are being freely discussed in Washington and probably every other crossroad in the country. And there is no reason why they shouldn't be brought out in the open and freely debated now.

Eisenhower Is Seen Putting Service Ahead of Health

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 14—What is Dwight Eisenhower's basic attitude toward public service—is it the health and convenience of an individual or the needs of one's country which must be given priority?

This question was once answered by Mr. Eisenhower in an episode that various persons in Washington are talking about now because it may throw light on the processes of the President's mind when he comes to the point of making a decision next year on whether or not to serve a second term.

The merger of the AF of L and the CIO is a menace, the more ominous because it proves in flat, final terms, the brutal cynicism of politicians of both national parties.

At this sad hour the tragic condition of Joe Ryan, the old deposed president of the International Longshoremen's Association, reveals the cruel character of the sordid trade called politics. Last winter George Meany, the president of the AF of L and now president of the grand cabal, received from Notre Dame University a medal intended to confer honor on all who receive it. He will be collecting many trashy baubles from others equally eager to capitalize his spurious distinction but well knowing that he has never been anything but a political boss of chartered job-trusts.

Joe Ryan is the one man who kept off the Atlantic and Gulf coasts Harry Bridges and the Communist goons and saboteurs behind him and his CIO union of longshoremen. Joe Ryan is the one man who planted George Meany in the presidency of the New York State Federation of Labor, who promoted him into national rank in the American Federation of labor — in short who put George Meany where he is today. Yet Ryan drags himself wearily on his dull little personal errands down around Chelsea Village, New York, his heart dead within him, deserted by men who owe everything to him, hounded by the state and federal governments, broke, sick and despondent.

Meany and every other veteran of the old, crude, roughneck union rackets and fights not only on the waterfront but in the building trades and teaming, knew the coarse brutal facts of life in Joe Ryan's bailiwick many years ago. They didn't protest then. Most of them were his political accomplices and that certainly includes George Meany whose countenance now beams from the papers with all the fine character and expression of a portrait of a hoop.

The New York County Grand Jury indicted Ryan after the Mr. Big investigation but it did not indict Mr. Big, himself, the United States Grand Jury indicted Joe for something concerning his income tax but it did not indict Mr. Big. The Department of Justice hounded Joe with a nasty persecution under the Taft-Hartley Act when thousands of other flagrant, open-and-shut cases were howling for action all over the United States.

Tom Dewey made a deal with Ryan's old colleague and beneficial protege, George Meany, to chase a busted, broken crippled old fighter off the docks which he had defended against the Communists throughout the war when the CIO was hogging scarce and precious air transportation from San Francisco and Seattle to the east coast ports to conspire with treacherous New Deal unioneers of the CIO. They were preparing to seize the ports as soon as Russia was saved from the Nazis.

At Dewey's behest, and Meany's, though it was strictly none of Dewey's business, being a federal matter, the Labor Relations Board held an election under legal supervision. Dewey is not a good judge of elections as we observed in 1944 and 1948. In this case he and Meany were knocked off the deep end by an inspiring demonstration of masculine loyalty by Joe Ryan's dock-wallopers. Dewey and Meany then raised a bleat of "intimidation" although the vote had been closely scrutinized on their own terms. They got another chance and Ryan beat them again thanks to the anger and contempt of his men loyal to a better code than politicians know. The great unioneer, George Meany, who now wears the Notre Dame bottle-cap on his lapel, was piously resorting to the worst sin in the decalog of all labor rackets—dual-unionism. He was setting up a rival to displace the old established racket whose evils he had lived with in moral complacency and physical luxury simply because Ryan's men had chased his stooges back inshore from the docks.

Little Lou Waldman, the old-time "labor lawyer" and author of a fine treatise under that title, stuck to Joe. His client was broke now and his case represented nothing better than an uncollectible account, but Lou was loyal. He got Joe a hung jury in the state case and got a reversal in the Taft-Hartley job, which now goes, however, to the Supreme Court on the government's appeal.

For years Mrs. Ryan was wasting with cancer. They all knew that.

Six weeks ago she died and the old man's shuffle was feebler as he wandered along the docks, the night before her funeral.

The next morning by request of Joe Ryan's loyal men, the cortege went west to the river and work stopped and the dock-wallopers fell in before the piers with their heads bared and bowed.

Politicians and hypocritical ideologians always are ready and diligent to organize "Citizen's Committees" to defend obvious Communists and reptilian fellow-travelers.

Why do they continue to hound a sick man drowning in tragedy with one cheap, cruel legal pretext after another?

Hudson Proves Movie Weddings Can Be Private

Hollywood, Dec. 14 (AP)—Hollywood's bridegroom of the year is handsome Rock Hudson, who has proven that movie marriages can be private.

This is heresy to the Hollywood publicity mill. The lives of the stars, particularly one so popular with the younger set as Rock, are supposed to be public property. These players are required to divulge everything, from what they eat on their corn flakes in the morning to whether they sleep in the raw.

WHILE NOT being as defiant about it as Marlon Brando, Rock has genially rebelled against the system. He will play ball up to a certain point, but draws the line when his privacy is involved.

The success of his methods was proven Nov. 9. That was his wedding date. No one suspected he was going to get married, although he had decided last March to wed pretty Phyllis Gates, secretary in his agent's office.

"We couldn't get married then," he related, "because I had to start 'All That Heaven Allows' with Jane Wyman. After that, I went into 'Giant.' That's what delayed us so long."

HE SAID that he and Phyllis decided on a Monday that they would get married in two days. The operation was carried out in commando-like secrecy.

An operative was sent north to Santa Barbara to scout the situation. He lined up the place for the wedding and interviewed the minister. When Rock and Phyllis drove up with a small party on Wednesday, he applied for the license under his legal name, Roy Fitzgerald. No one divulged his identity.

AFTER THE wedding was over, the necessary news sources were called, to keep peace with the studio. Then the pair vanished on a honeymoon.

They even had privacy on their honeymoon. They went to Jamaica under assumed names, the airlines playing along with their hoax. They flew to New York as Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, and no one was aware they were in town. They even attended the play that nearly took the actor's movie name—"Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?"

Now they're back in Rock's small home above the Sunset Strip, and he reports that the fans haven't even bothered him there.

ALL THIS tends to prove that stars can have privacy—if they want it. But do they want it? Ah, that's another question.

Anyway, Rock seems the happiest of bridegrooms. He is more talkative than before and appears to be happy plunging into another picture. This time it's "Written on the Wind" with Lauren Bacall, Dorothy Malone and Robert Stack. He did admit that he would prefer to work not quite so hard.

He has been doing three and four pictures a year and would rather do five every two years. But there's little chance of that. Universal-International has him under exclusive contract for another five years, and he's their hot boy right now.

Fans may recall that he once vowed never to wed before he was 30. The marriage came just five days before his 30th birthday. How come?

"I was never serious about not marrying until 30," he said. "I just said it so people would stop asking me when I was going to get married."

Middletown Home Planned for Senile

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—A modernistic motel-type homestead for the senile aged, consisting of one-story glass-enclosed buildings, will be built by the state in Middletown, N. Y., next year, it was announced here yesterday.

The million-dollar project, equipped with occupational therapy facilities, radio and TV outlets, recreation rooms and pools, will be located on the grounds of the Middletown State Hospital. It will house 200 persons.

Plans for the project were announced by State Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican, chairman of the New York State Joint Legislative Committee on problems of the aging.

"The buildings will be glass enclosed, with an open floor plan to allow patients a maximum access to the outdoors, and give them a sense of freedom," Desmond said.

He said the project "may provide clues which will enable old age homes and communities to handle better their own aged who have become senile, sometimes from the stress of being shunted aside by industry, families and the community."

Funds for the homestead were made available by the State Legislature in 1953.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Find Fit for Slam Play

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Experts call today's kind of hand a "fitter." If you can discover the fit you can bid a slam. Otherwise, you must usually content yourself cautiously with a mere game bid.

When the hand was actually played, West opened the king of diamonds, and South realized that he had been too cautious. The strength of the North hand was exactly where it could be used, and there was no duplicated diamond strength in the dummy opposite the diamond void in the South hand.

There was, of course, no problem in making the game contract. The only problem was to make as many tricks as possible.

The correct technique consisted in using three suits to develop a single trick. This is unusual enough to deserve a moment of our time.

South ruffed the opening diamond lead and looked for a way to prevent the loss of a club trick. It was clear that South would have to lose a club trick if he handled that suit all by itself. The only way to prevent this loss was to ruff a club in dummy. Since dummy's clubs were not short, another suit had to be used in order to create a shortage.

At the second trick South carefully drew exactly two rounds of trumps, with dummy's king and his own ace. The next step was to cash three top hearts, discarding a club from dummy on the third. Now South took the king and ace of clubs, after which he was in position to ruff a third club with dummy's last trump.

Three suits, trumps, hearts and clubs, were used to develop the extra trick. When the clubs broke, South managed to make all 13 tricks.

What Price Speed

Detroit (AP) — The 33.9-mile stretch of expressway from downtown Detroit to Willow Run Airport is a veritable speedway. As an experiment, one car hit it up to 92 miles per hour and saved every minute possible. Another traveled at normal speeds. The time saved by speeding: 10 minutes.

Canada Hit Hard By GM Strike, 17,000 Are Idle

Toronto, Dec. 14 (AP)—A strike of 17,000 workers at five General Motors of Canada plants is in its 12th week and is making itself felt across the country.

GM workers in five Ontario cities — Oshawa, Toronto, St. Catharines, London and Windsor —left their jobs Sept. 19 to enforce demands for a 15-cent hourly wage increase and other benefits.

MOST GM FEEDER plants have been able to continue production on a reduced basis because they also supply parts to Ford and Chrysler plants in Windsor. Some have laid off workers.

Some of the 1,200 GM dealers are importing American-built cars for demonstration, despite a 10 per cent excise tax, 10 per cent sales tax and a 17½ per cent duty.

Most dealers are promising spring delivery.

The spare parts situation varies from threatening to critical, dealers said. Many, especially in western provinces, are importing parts and absorbing the tax and duty cost.

Hutton Christmas Club

The Christmas Club of The Hutton Company for 1955 at the Rondout National Bank amounted to $35,712. This amount paid out to club members represents an average saving of $458. The Hutton Company added $2,281.61 under the savings incentive plan which has been in effect for many years.

Boost Averts Strike

Binghamton, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP) —Bus drivers and mechanics of the Triple Cities Traction Corp. have accepted a 12-cent boost in hourly wages, to be given in three stages over 15 months. The settlement last night ended the threat of a strike by the 124 employes at midnight. Division 1145 of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, the employes' union, voted to accept the two-year contract approved earlier by the company.

Find Fit for Slam Play

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Experts call today's kind of hand a "fitter." If you can discover the fit you can bid a slam. Otherwise, you must usually content yourself cautiously with a mere game bid.

When the hand was actually played, West opened the king of diamonds, and South realized that he had been too cautious. The strength of the North hand was exactly where it could be used, and there was no duplicated diamond strength in the dummy opposite the diamond void in the South hand.

There was, of course, no problem in making the game contract. The only problem was to make as many tricks as possible.

The correct technique consisted in using three suits to develop a single trick. This is unusual enough to deserve a moment of our time.

South ruffed the opening diamond lead and looked for a way to prevent the loss of a club trick. It was clear that South would have to lose a club trick if he handled that suit all by itself. The only way to prevent this loss was to ruff a club in dummy. Since dummy's clubs were not short, another suit had to be used in order to create a shortage.

At the second trick South carefully drew exactly two rounds of trumps, with dummy's king and his own ace. The next step was to cash three top hearts, discarding a club from dummy on the third. Now South took the king and ace of clubs, after which he was in position to ruff a third club with dummy's last trump.

Three suits, trumps, hearts and clubs, were used to develop the extra trick. When the clubs broke, South managed to make all 13 tricks.

What Price Speed

Detroit (AP) — The 33.9-mile stretch of expressway from downtown Detroit to Willow Run Airport is a veritable speedway. As an experiment, one car hit it up to 92 miles per hour and saved every minute possible. Another traveled at normal speeds. The time saved by speeding: 10 minutes.

Canada Hit Hard By GM Strike, 17,000 Are Idle

Toronto, Dec. 14 (AP)—A strike of 17,000 workers at five General Motors of Canada plants is in its 12th week and is making itself felt across the country.

GM workers in five Ontario cities — Oshawa, Toronto, St. Catharines, London and Windsor —left their jobs Sept. 19 to enforce demands for a 15-cent hourly wage increase and other benefits.

MOST GM FEEDER plants have been able to continue production on a reduced basis because they also supply parts to Ford and Chrysler plants in Windsor. Some have laid off workers.

Some of the 1,200 GM dealers are importing American-built cars for demonstration, despite a 10 per cent excise tax, 10 per cent sales tax and a 17½ per cent duty.

Most dealers are promising spring delivery.

The spare parts situation varies from threatening to critical, dealers said. Many, especially in western provinces, are importing parts and absorbing the tax and duty cost.

Binghamton, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP)—Bus drivers and mechanics of the Triple Cities Traction Corp. have accepted a 12-cent boost in hourly wages, to be given in three stages over 15 months. The settlement last night ended the threat of a strike by the 124 employes at midnight. Parents Club Offers Christmas Program

Wallkill, Dec. 13 — An audience of 200 gathered at Wallkill Central School auditorium Friday evening to see the annual Christmas program given by the Wallkill Parents Club. Entitled, "Christmas in Other Lands," the program consisted of various club members and residents of the Central School District telling of the old customs in their mother countries, and how their various ideas were adapted by the Americans here in the new world, having been carried out and handed down from their first European ancestry. They pointed out that Christmas is not commercialized in the old world, but is a festive celebration, with reverence, gratitude, and a strong sense of family ties, at its very beginning and at the core of the event.

Christmas Eve means church bells to Mrs. Alfred Wager, "In late afternoon, and it is quite dark at that time, everything stops and all the bells in Norway ring out signifying the beginning of the festivities," she said.

Mrs. Albina Orlowski reports that the Polish children watch for the first star to appear in the sky on Christmas Eve, in memory of the Star of Bethlehem. Running joyfully after they first sight this "memory" star, the children announce to their parents that the holiday has begun. Sitting down then to the holiday meal, a Polish family partakes of 12 different kinds of food symbolizing the 12 apostles. Mrs. Orlowski delighted her group by featuring the Polish Christmas table arrangement and accompanying her story with a dramatic reading in pantomine with Paula Orlowski as the actress. Mrs. Maria Skladal baked a hala (Christ's sweet bread) for this demonstration.

Miss Marie McCaffrey, Spanish teacher at Wallkill Central School, told of "pinatas" — a hilarious custom of breaking a large paper mache figure which is filled with food and gifts, among the people of Spain. It is suspended by rope or wire and is struck by a person whose turn it is to be blindfolded. When it is finally struck, all fellow players gather as many of the sweets and items as they can, as they shower throughout the room.

Mrs. Herman Stauttener of Wallkill also gave a brief account of Christmas in Holland and it is here that Santa Claus derives (as St. Nicholas is a time-old custom in Holland.)

On New Year's Eve, or Hoginay as it is called in Scotland, people gather in family homes and attend church as a great gathering, according to Mrs. William Crans. New Year's Eve seemed to her to be the most important event of the season.

Kris Kringle is the magic password of German parents and children, reports Mrs. Arthur Fosler, for he watches them all year and their behavior is the basis of the many gifts they will receive. Anyone who is poor or lonely or unable to partake of a Christmas dinner is invited to the family table in Germany, as the one thought of German people celebrating this event, is the birth of a king, Jesus Christ, and is kindness to all.

Mrs. Walter Kleeman, reports that in Austria, Kris Kringle was a lady in white with a bag who went seeking for good little children. There were oranges, nuts and candy for the good and a "whipping" for the naughty children. Also prevalent is the participating of all at Mass on Christmas morning and the blessing of sheep. On Christmas Day they strew the floor and table with straw and arrange a bowl of wheat. This wheat would be offered to visitors with "It is God's Will. Come in and eat, neighbor;" Traditional fare is head cheese and rye bread.

Switzerland, being divided into many different areas, celebrates in many different ways, but all of the people do unite together and make a pilgrimage to the church named for St. Nicholas nestled in the Alps. Every house shows the deep and true feeling for the religious significance of Christmas in Switzerland.

Mrs. Howard Terwilliger tells that every house must have its Wassail bowl of hot, spiced ale or cider in England. All English people sing religious carols in the morning and evening, with the gayer carols at merrymaking. Musical groups called "waifs" parade the streets at night or sing and play in manor halls for gifts.

Singing carols were the young sextet of the Wallkill school, Susan Edsall, Carolyn Beattie, Yvonne O'Connor, Vincent Holland, Jimmy Dolan, Harold Kearns, with Mrs. J. A. Ronk as accompanist.

In charge of the program were Mrs. J. A. Ronk and Mrs. Milton Van Duser. Stage and lighting assistants were John D. Gardiner and Vincent DeAngelis.

The next regular meeting will be held on Jan. 5 and will feature an interesting program on school guidance.

Po'keepsie Man Fined $50 on 2 Traffic Charges

Ernest Brown, 21, of Poughkeepsie, who was arrested by Highland state police Sunday morning on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and operating a vehicle as an unsupervised learner, was fined $50 Monday night when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Patsy Conforti of Highland.

Mr. Brown pleaded guilty to the charges and was fined $50 for leaving the scene of an accident and $10 suspended on the second count.

Mr. Brown was arrested when he became involved in an accident which had occurred a few minutes earlier on the Route 44-45 downgrade approach to the western entrance to the Mid-Hudson bridge—a head-on collision which cost the life of Louis Lang, 42, of Hyde Park.

TROOPERS reported that Mr. Lang was operating a 1950 sedan west on the bridge approach when he was in collision with a 1955 sedan operated by Charles Hicks, 21, of Hopewell Junction. A third car, a 1948 sedan, operated by Sam Cioffi, 39, of Poughkeepsie, traveling east, stopped on the right side of the road and Mr. Cioffi got out to render assistance, according to troopers.

A fourth car, a 1951 sedan, operated by Mr. Brown, traveling east, struck the Lang car and Mr. Cioffi and Miss Barbara Watkins, 20, of Poughkeepsie, knocking them to the pavement, state police said.

The Brown vehicle then crossed to the other side of the road, striking the Cioffi car in the left rear, causing injuries to two other persons sitting in the back seat, according to troopers.

The condition of Mr. Hicks, who was taken to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, with a fractured skull and multiple contusions, was still critical today, it was reported.

The present law limits the age to 18. The commission submitted 34 detailed recommendations to Gov. Averell Harriman as a result of 11 regional hearings throughout the state, and a three-day statewide conference on youth and delinquency in Albany in October.

Opera Star Sues

Rome, Dec. 14 (AP)—Fiery Maria Meneghini Callas has sued a pasta company and its president, a nephew of the Pope, for advertising that its type of macaroni helped her lose weight. The slimmed-down, American-born opera star, who came out ahead in a bout with process servers in Chicago last month, entered the suit in the Rome civil tribunal. Named were the "Pastificio Pantanella," Prince Marcantonio Pacelli, its president, and Dr. Giovanni Cazzarolli.

Asks Congress to Act

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—Democratic foes of the repudiated Dixon-Yates contract want Congress to take a direct hand in a "no holds barred" court fight against the private power group's claim for 3½ million dollars in damages. Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) announced yesterday he plans to introduce a resolution calling for appointment of a special counsel to fight the Dixon-Yates suit, filed earlier in the day at the U. S. Court of Claims.

To Let Farmers Decide

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—If there is to be any overall limitation on farm production next year, the Eisenhower administration will leave it to farmers to impose it upon themselves. Secretary of Agriculture Benson indicated yesterday the administration does not intend to propose or to impose restrictions beyond those already required by legislation enacted before World War 2. In fact, it wants to go in the opposite direction—toward greater farmer freedom.

Action Called

Nationalist China and Russia for using the veto in the Security Council yesterday to thwart the will of the majority.

The Chinese Nationalists vetoed Soviet-supported Outer Mongolia. Russia vetoed 13 non-Communist countries in the 18-nation package plan and two others which Nationalist China tried to add—South Korea and South Viet Nam. The Council refused to support four Soviet satellites.

The opening of this morning's Assembly session was delayed more than half an hour while India's V. K. Krishna Menon, one of the package sponsors, conferred with Assembly President Jose Maza of Chile.

Menon protested because the membership issue had not been placd on the agenda for today's meeting. He was assured finally that the president of the Security Council, Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, would be asked to submit a report immediately on yesterday's meeting. This would serve as a basis for Assembly debate.

Leaders Doubtful

ditions. On the contrary, he said, "we may need more."

He said he thinks some present "inequities" in the tax structure should be corrected, with "the little fellow getting some relief."

Rayburn, Martin and Cannon hinted at the possibility of increased defense spending next year, which would make both a tax cut and a balanced budget difficult despite record high income. They were interviewed after a White House conference at which President Eisenhower reportedly talked of a billion-dollar boost in defense spending next year.

DESPITE his belief that "we are further away from war today than we were a year ago," Martin said, "defense spending may increase, and that well may prevent any tax cut."

Summing up the outlook, Martin said:

"It's quite doubtful whether we can have any substantial tax reduction next year," though a balanced budget may "permit tax reduction for the little fellow."

Cannon cautioned against cutting taxes until the federal budget is balanced and a systematic reduction of the national debt is undertaken.

"IF WE CAN'T balance the budget and make substantial payments on the debt now, when income is at an all-time high, we never will," Cannon said. "Until that is done, we should not reduce taxes by one penny."

Byrd agreed, saying he is against reducing any taxes. If there is a surplus, he said it ought to be applied on payments on the national debt.

well be that the plan will be further discussed in the near future for fluoridation of the city supply but at present no plan exists.

He indicated his department would work closely with the city officials and the populace at large on any program proposed.

In many instances the matter has been submitted to the people for referendum. This was done about a year ago in Catskill where the proposal was defeated. Where the proposal to treat the water system has been taken to the people for referendum, results indicate that the proposal is defeated in approximately 70 per cent of the instances.

While no plan has been proposed for treating the Kingston supply, nor is one ready to be submitted at this time, Dr. Hargrave said the matter was now at a point where it would be possible to go along with a plan since the ten year control test period involving Kingston is over and the results have been determined.

Po'keepsie Man Fined $50 on 2 Traffic Charges

Ernest Brown, 21, of Poughkeepsie, who was arrested by Highland state police Sunday morning on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and operating a vehicle as an unsupervised learner, was fined $50 Monday night when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Patsy Conforti of Highland.

Mr. Brown pleaded guilty to the charges and was fined $50 for leaving the scene of an accident and $10 suspended on the second count.

Mr. Brown was arrested when he became involved in an accident which had occurred a few minutes earlier on the Route 44-45 downgrade approach to the western entrance to the Mid-Hudson bridge—a head-on collision which cost the life of Louis Lang, 42, of Hyde Park.

..TROOPERS reported that Mr. Lang was operating a 1950 sedan west on the bridge approach when he was in collision with a 1955 sedan operated by Charles Hicks, 21, of Hopewell Junction. A third car, a 1948 sedan, operated by Sam Cioffi, 39, of Poughkeepsie, traveling east, stopped on the right side of the road and Mr. Cioffi got out to render assistance, according to troopers.

A fourth car, a 1951 sedan, operated by Mr. Brown, traveling east, struck the Lang car and Mr. Cioffi and Miss Barbara Watkins, 20, of Poughkeepsie, knocking them to the pavement, state police said.

The Brown vehicle then crossed to the other side of the road, striking the Cioffi car in the left rear, causing injuries to two other persons sitting in the back seat, according to troopers.

The condition of Mr. Hicks, who was taken to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, with a fractured skull and multiple contusions, was still critical today, it was reported.

In fact, it wants to go in the opposite direction—toward greater farmer freedom.

Action Called

Nationalist China and Russia for using the veto in the Security Council yesterday to thwart the will of the majority.

The Chinese Nationalists vetoed Soviet-supported Outer Mongolia. Russia vetoed 13 non-Communist countries in the 18-nation package plan and two others which Nationalist China tried to add—South Korea and South Viet Nam. The Council refused to support four Soviet satellites.

The opening of this morning's Assembly session was delayed more than half an hour while India's V. K. Krishna Menon, one of the package sponsors, conferred with Assembly President Jose Maza of Chile.

Menon protested because the membership issue had not been placd on the agenda for today's meeting. He was assured finally that the president of the Security Council, Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, would be asked to submit a report immediately on yesterday's meeting. This would serve as a basis for Assembly debate.

Leaders Doubtful

ditions. On the contrary, he said, "we may need more."

He said he thinks some present "inequities" in the tax structure should be corrected, with "the little fellow getting some relief."

Rayburn, Martin and Cannon hinted at the possibility of increased defense spending next year, which would make both a tax cut and a balanced budget difficult despite record high income. They were interviewed after a White House conference at which President Eisenhower reportedly talked of a billion-dollar boost in defense spending next year.

DESPITE his belief that "we are further away from war today than we were a year ago," Martin said, "defense spending may increase, and that well may prevent any tax cut."

Summing up the outlook, Martin said:

"It's quite doubtful whether we can have any substantial tax reduction next year," though a balanced budget may "permit tax reduction for the little fellow."

Cannon cautioned against cutting taxes until the federal budget is balanced and a systematic reduction of the national debt is undertaken.

"IF WE CAN'T balance the budget and make substantial payments on the debt now, when income is at an all-time high, we never will," Cannon said. "Until that is done, we should not reduce taxes by one penny."

Byrd agreed, saying he is against reducing any taxes. If there is a surplus, he said it ought to be applied on payments on the national debt.

Flouoridation

well be that the plan will be further discussed in the near future for fluoridation of the city supply but at present no plan exists.

He indicated his department would work closely with the city officials and the populace at large on any program proposed.

In many instances the matter has been submitted to the people for referendum. This was done about a year ago in Catskill where the proposal was defeated. Where the proposal to treat the water system has been taken to the people for referendum, results indicate that the proposal is defeated in approximately 70 per cent of the instances.

While no plan has been proposed for treating the Kingston supply, nor is one ready to be submitted at this time, Dr. Hargrave said the matter was now at a point where it would be possible to go along with a plan since the ten year control test period involving Kingston is over and the results have been determined.

This was the last regular meeting of the board of directors as now constituted. Directors whose terms expire on December 31 including Adrian Kaplan, Victor H. Roth, N. Jansen Fowler, Clyde Wonderly, Jr., Robert M. Peebles and J. Ellis Briggs all spoke briefly pledging continued support of the Chamber and offering to serve on any committee or in any capacity in which the new administration may request them to serve. The remaining fourteen directors and the seven new directors whose election has just been announced will meet in January to organize for 1956. A president and three vice-presidents and a treasurer will be elected.

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—An heirloom diamond and pearl necklace valued at $5,000 turned up in the pocket of a narcotics addict in Harlem last night, police reported.

Mrs. Louise Krueger, from whom the necklace was allegedly stolen, told police she had not known it was missing. She said the ornament came originally from Russia, was about 250 years old and had been in her family for many years.

Police said they discovered the jewelry when they stopped and searched William Thomas, 29, a Negro. When questioned, they said, he admitted taking it from Mrs. Krueger's home and trying to sell it to buy dope.

Mrs. Krueger identified Thomas, who was booked on a charge of grand larceny, as a man she had hired several days before as a handyman for a private elementary school that she operates.

$5,000 Heirloom Found on Addict

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—An heirloom diamond and pearl necklace valued at $5,000 turned up in the pocket of a narcotics addict in Harlem last night, police reported.

Mrs. Louise Krueger, from whom the necklace was allegedly stolen, told police she had not known it was missing. She said the ornament came originally from Russia, was about 250 years old and had been in her family for many years.

Police said they discovered the jewelry when they stopped and searched William Thomas, 29, a Negro. When questioned, they said, he admitted taking it from Mrs. Krueger's home and trying to sell it to buy dope.

Mrs. Krueger identified Thomas, who was booked on a charge of grand larceny, as a man she had hired several days before as a handyman for a private elementary school that she operates.

County Receives $21,569 Share Of License Fees

Ulster county's share of state-collected motor vehicle fees for the three months ending Sept. 30, 1955, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the state highway law totals $21,569.58.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today announced the distribution of $1,595,731.84 of motor vehicle tax receipts to the 57 counties outside the city of New York.

THE LAW PROVIDES that 25 per cent of the fees collected under the vehicle and traffic law, exclusive of application fees and service charge for special plates, from residents of a county outside New York city be returned to local government.

The amount of this tax distributed for the same quarter of 1954 was $929,484.17.

The money is deposited in county road funds, from which expenditures for construction and maintenance of county road systems are made. Checks are being mailed to the county fiscal officers.

Neighboring counties' returns include Dutchess, $29,031.82; Greene, $7,007.06; Orange, $32,430.14 and Sullivan, $8,374.94.

Ike Calls Harriman 'Park Avenue Truman'

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP) — President Eisenhower was quoted today as telling Republican Congressional leaders he regards Gov. Averell Harriman of New York as "a Park Avenue Truman."

Some of those who attended a White House briefing session Monday said there was discussion of Harriman, a potential candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination who has been praised by former President Harry S. Truman.

Eisenhower was said to have shrugged off Harriman's attacks on the Republican administration's policies with the comment that he was only "a Park Avenue Truman."

Murrow Subjects Remain Same as When Interviewed

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—A fellow was sitting around the other day with John A. Aaron and Jesse Zousmer, co-producers with Edward R. Murrow of CBS-TV's "Person to Person", when he thought up a question: "Where are they now?"

In a kind of chorus Aaron and Zousmer replied: "They're just about where they were."

This game of "where are they now?" was occasioned by the fact that Murrow will conduct his 100th "Person to Person" interview program next Friday (10:30 p. m., Eastern Time) when he looks in at the Chicago home of actress Kim Novak and the New York home of columnist Leonard Lyons.

Statistics are always deceptive, but maybe you can conclude something about the lives of the famous and near famous in America after Aaron and Zousmer finish running through the 199 names Murrow has interviewed in these past two years. Here's what they say:

More than 95 per cent still live in the same homes. Although two couples have hit rocky marital roads since "Person to Person" I looked in on them, there has been only one divorce—that of Fleur and Gardner Cowles. Only two have died—Walter White, president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, and Imogene Coca's husband, Robert Burton.

There have been quite a few marriages since a visit by Murrow: Eddie Fisher to Debbie Reynolds; Jayne Meadows to Steve Allen . . . (Jayne, by the way, is the only person to be visited twice—once when she lived with her sister, Audrey, and again after she married Allen.) Mohammed Ali, Pakistan ambassador to the United States, now has two wives instead of one. Groucho Marx has married again (but has only one wife). So have Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and Renee Jeanmarie.

Not so many have had additions to the family: The Phil Rizzutos; the Bob Smith (he plays Buffalo Bob on "Howdy-Doody"). Eva Marie Saint received a baby as well as a Hollywood Oscar. The Orson Welles had a child 10 days before a visit from Murrow.

Well, a few generals and the like have retired, but others in arts, politics and the world of entertainment are still running along like Tennyson's brook. In fact, there's an interesting trend toward greater success after you appear on "Person to Person." Krishna Menon, Ethel Waters, Lillian Gish, Ernie Kovacks are a few of those who have enjoyed upsprings in public notice. David Sarnoff, who was merely president of RCA when interviewed, is now chairman of the board. George Meany, who was merely president of the AFL, is now president of the AFL-CIO.

Athletes tend to take a dip after appearing on "Person to Person." Paddy De Marco lost the lightweight championship. Don Newcombe of the Brooklyn Dodgers didn't pitch any more in the World Series after his appearance. On the other hand, Roy Campanella, the Dodgers catcher, who was the first person interviewed when the program began, this year was picked as most valuable player in the National League.

So it goes. It seems that famous people generally just plug along at the same job while living in the same house with the same wife and get famouser and famouser.

LITTLE BUNDLE OF JOY—Mary Lee Locke, 3½ months old, weighed only one pound, 10 ounces when she was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 22. After spending 2½ months in an oxygen-controlled incubator, she weighs five pounds, one ounce. Doctors say she's in "excellent condition." Mary is shown smiling at her mother, Mrs. Willard G. Locke.

Briefly Told

SEATTLE, Dec. 14 (AP)—Two injured soldiers from New York state, survivors of the charter air transport crash that killed 28 persons Nov. 18, have been transferred to the St. Albans Naval Hospital in New York city.

They are Pfc. R. W. Mero of Willsboro and Spec. 3, G. L. E. Marics of (253 S. 7th Ave.) Highland Park.

The transport, operated by Peninsular Air Transport, Miami, Fla., crashed with 74 aboard a few minutes after midnight.

SYRACUSE, Dec. 14 (AP)—The New York State Assn. of Secondary School Principals has called for a minimum annual salary of $4,000 for beginning teachers in public schools.

The association yesterday urged the Legislature to establish a salary schedule with increments up to $9,000 a year for teachers with 10 years service.

In a resolution adopted at the closing session of its three-day, 71st annual conference, the association declared: "The need for competent, qualified teachers continues to mount in New York state and present salary scales are failing to attract sufficient numbers of able teachers into the classrooms."

ALBANY, Dec. 14 (AP)—The state has distributed $1,595,731 to the 57 counties outside New York city as their share of motor-vehicle fees collected in the three months ended Sept. 30.

The payments compare with $929,484 apportioned for the corresponding quarter of 1954. State law provides for the return to counties of 25 per cent of the fees collected from their residents except for applications and special plates.

The money is used for construction and maintenance of county roads.

ALBANY, Dec. 14 (AP)—Gov. Harriman announced yesterday his intention to designate Justice Martin M. Frank of State Supreme Court as an associate justice of the court's Appellate Division, First Department, next Jan. 1.

Frank lives in the Bronx. He will succeed Justice Albert Cohn, whose term expires Dec. 31. Appellate Division justices are paid $2,000 a year in addition to the regular salary of $28,000 for Supreme Court justices in the First Department.

Chandler Summons Aides

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 14 (AP)—Gov. A. B. Chandler, stepping into the executive office after a 16-year absence, threw it open for business today. One of his first acts was to call a cabinet meeting to discuss his program for the four years ahead. Immediately after taking office in a colorful ceremony yesterday, the 57-year-old Democrat made appointments to 16 top posts in his new administration. Other appointments will be announced later, he said.

Here is Chrysler's wonderfully convenient and truly automatic Pushbutton drive selector . . . on the left side where no one but the driver can reach it.

Push this button and all other cars seem outdated!

15 minutes in the new "PowerStyle" Chrysler can change a lifetime of buying habits!

Push that "D" button and step on the gas. You're off like a shot. Now you're eating up the ribbon of road in front of you. A curve comes up and bends around behind. What was a hill has vanished. The scenery itself must be moving, not you!

What accounts for this magic? A whole new series of Chrysler engineering developments. You touch a button for neutral, reverse, low or drive . . . and Chrysler's PowerFlite transmission goes into action with the smoothest take-off you've ever experienced. Under the hood is the first highway version of the airplane-type V-8 engine, bigger and more powerful than ever, with a 9 to 1 compression ratio.

Chrysler, with its low center of gravity, rivals the cornering ability of a racing car. Full-time PowerPilot Steering gives you a true feel-of-the-road, cuts fatigue from long trips and driving in traffic. And its new PowerSmooth Brakes bring you to the world's safest, smoothest straight line stops.

All this you see reflected in Chrysler's "PowerStyle" lines . . . the new Forward Look . . . the new look of power.

If you're now driving one of the other two major cars in Chrysler's price class, come in and make a direct comparison. Just see if Chrysler doesn't make everything else seem outdated!

Good Will Meters

Detroit (AP)—All parking tickets in suburban Dearborn were paid by the Optimist Club for a week. Said a club spokesman: "It's a means of focusing attention to the service group's activities. Violators will be given an opportunity to reimburse the club if they wish."

ATOMIC PICKLE BARREL—A physicist takes the radiation count from New York University's sub-critical nuclear reactor—two tons of uranium rods in a pickle barrel. The sub-critical reactor—so called because it cannot sustain a full chain reaction—is used in N.Y.U.'s nuclear engineering education program. Experiments are made by hoisting a neutron source among the uranium rods. Water, not vinegar, as some gagster suggests, is used to shield the experiment. It is the first nuclear installation in New York City.

Says Sampson Base Issue Not Settled

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—Rep, John Taber (R.-N. Y.) says the air force has recommended closing Sampson Air Force Base but that the situation is "very much up in the air."

Taber told reporters after a conference yesterday with Donald Quarles, secretary of the air force, that the final decision would be made by Quarles, but not until mid-January at the earliest.

"I don't know what that decision will be," Taber added.

He said he would meet again with Quarles, probably about Jan. 15. Before then, he said, the air force promises to supply him with additional data on the basic training center. The congressman added he would seek to "get some on my own."

Steel to Go Up

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—The chances are that prices of practically all major steel products will rise by March 1, The Iron Age, national metalworking weekly said today. The prospects weekly said today. The prospects for a moderate price rise by that date are much better than 50-50, it added, and it's a foregoing conclusion that there will be another rise after wage negotiations next summer. Iron Age also reported as follows: The steel supply outlook is worse, if anything. While producers are straining to maintain high production levels, a break in the fast pace seems inevitable because of approaching holidays, cold weather and maintenance problems.

John Brown's Bodies

Bloomington, Ill. (AP)—John B. Brown gave a couple of stray dogs visiting his chicken coop a roaring reception with a 12-gauge shotgun. When the smoke cleared, he found that one stray was dead, the other had made a clean get-away and ten chickens were no more.

More Power

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Electric output climbed to a record high last week—the third mark set in four weeks. Edison Electric Institute reported that power production totaled 11,426,000,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 11,359,000,000 kilowatt hours the week before, and 16 per cent higher than the 9,846,000,000 kilowatt hours in the same week last year. All sections of the country reported gains over the year-ago week.

Return Trip

Huntington, W. Va. (AP)—When Col. George S. Wallace appeared to file an application with the city of Huntington for a 50-year extension of the franchise of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad it brought back a flood of memories. As a stripling lawyer Wallace had filed the original franchise application for the railroad 50 years earlier.

Gibraltar Falls

Rardin, Ill. (AP)—A friend of A. D. Boyd spoke confidently about the new window he had installed at the Boyd home. "Ain't nothing gonna jar it out," he said. A hailstorm 35 minutes later broke all the windows on the south side of the house—including the one installed "like Gibraltar."

Also Hits U. S. Liberals

Meany Calls Nehru and Tito Real Allies of Communism

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany says Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India and Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia are "aides and allies of communism."

The nation's top labor leader also attacked "Liberals" in this country in a speech yesterday before the National Religion and Labor Foundation.

MEANY SAID he was disturbed that many U. S. "Liberals" are "stone silent" about the loss of human rights in Soviet-dominated countries.

Speaking of Nehru and Tito, Meany said no country can be neutral in the struggle between communism and democracy. He added:

"Nehru and Tito are not neutral. They are aides and allies of communism in fact and in effect, if not in diplomatic verbiage."

Meany's speech was made shortly before the announcement in New Delhi of a cooperation pact signed by India and the Soviet Union.

HIS REMARKS brought a formal protest later in the day from K. T. Tripathi, general secretary of the Indian National Trades Council. Tripathi said the attack on Nehru would have "most unfortunate repercussions" throughout Asia.

Meany's remarks were commended, on the other hand, as being "accurate and courageous" by Mohammed A. Khatib, secretary of the All-Pakistan Seamen's union.

Meany said too many people in the United States and abroad still believe communism is "a progressive system—extreme liberalism temporarily making bad mistakes." He continued:

"ACTUALLY communism represents darkest reaction. It is an anti-social system in which there are imbedded some of the worst features of savagery, slavery, feudalism and life-sapping exploitation manifested in the industrial revolution of early-day capitalism."

Meany said "Liberals" in this country must guard against developing "a certain type of McCarthyism of their own."

"THEY MUST shun like a plague the role of being anti-Communist," he said. "Only by refusing to be thus entrapped can Liberals shed every vestige of subconscious and conscious regard for communism as a movement with which they have something in common."

Meany spoke at a luncheon where he and Walter P. Reuther, AFL-CIO vice president, received the foundation's annual social justice award.

Coal Miner-Cleric Stops at $32,000

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Stanley Skeens, coal miner and clergyman, stopped at the $32,000 level last night in the CBS radio and television quiz show, "The $64,000 Question."

"The Lord has been very gracious and good to me up to this point," Skeens said in announcing his decision not to try to double his prize money. Had he missed he would have received a consolation prize of an expensive car.

He said up to the last minute he thought he might try for the $64,000.

Skeens, 26, won his money by answering questions about the Bible. He said he would take the money back to West Virginia and "tuck it in the little bank at Danville."

Singer Pleads Innocent

Van Nuys, Calif., Dec. 14 (AP)—Singer Gordon MacRae has pleaded innocent to a misdemeanor charge of drunk driving and asked a jury trial. It was set for Jan. 9. MacRae, 34, was jailed after being involved in a four-car collision early yesterday morning. Later he was released on $263 bail. "The crash was unavoidable," MacRae told newsmen. "I dropped a lighted cigarette on the floor of my car and the accident happened when I leaned over to pick it up. I had exactly two drinks during the evening, which I spent rehearsing for a new nightclub act."

Search for Ship On

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—An air-sea search was underway today for the British freighter Lord Church, reported wallowing helplessly in heavy seas with two of its crew injured 360 miles south of Race Point, Newfoundland. The coast guard here said the 6,200 ton ship had reported its quarters flooded, its superstructure demolished and its dynamos and emergency steering mechanism unworkable. One of the Lord Church's 28-man crew was said to have suffered severe burns and another a broken leg.

Steel to Go Up

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—The chances are that prices of practically all major steel products will rise by March 1, The Iron Age, national metalworking weekly said today. The prospects weekly said today. The prospects for a moderate price rise by that date are much better than 50-50, it added, and it's a foregoing conclusion that there will be another rise after wage negotiations next summer. Iron Age also reported as follows: The steel supply outlook is worse, if anything. While producers are straining to maintain high production levels, a break in the fast pace seems inevitable because of approaching holidays, cold weather and maintenance problems.

Some May Give Up Status

Move Seen by Senators For Check Into Funds

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Foundations are crowding the news columns these days—with both controversial and noncontroversial deeds. And there's a growing tendency in Washington — both in Congress and in the Treasury Department — to take a close look at these tax-free funds.

The nation's largest—the Ford Foundation—has made news of a noncontroversial nature twice of late. It is giving 500 million dollars to private education and to hospitals. This is the largest single act of philantrophy ever announced.

THE FOUNDATION will take in an almost equal sum of money next month when it offers to the public Ford Motor stock, for the first time.

The stock offer, however, isn't to pay for this week's big giveaway. The foundation makes its donations out of earnings from capital, not from the capital itself. The money the foundation gets from the sale of part of its Ford stock will be invested in other ways, and the yield from such investments will go into future donations.

The Ford Foundation's holdings are presently estimated to have a market value of between 1½ and 2 billion dollars. Prior to this week's shopping gift total the fund had handed out 350 million dollars since its founding in 1936 by gifts of stock in the motor company by Henry Ford I.

The foundation is also in the news just now in a controversial matter, concerning some of the activities of one of its beneficiaries, the Fund for the Republic, which are attacked from several quarters.

WHILE THE FORD Foundation is the nation's largest tax-free fund, it has lots of company. If you count in churches, farm co-operatives and the like there are more than 100,000 tax free groups in the country.

Some 32,000 of these are in the category of the foundation, fund, or association — exempted from taxation on the general ground that they serve a public rather than a private purpose. And about 7,000 of these are foundations set up by wealthy men or corporations to handle their philantrophies.

Most of these are conceded to serve a public purpose. But some congressmen have been charging that some foundations or funds meddle too much in politics to deserve a tax-free status.

CONGRESS IS expected to be asked for a law which would open to public inspection the applications for tax exemption filed by foundations. The idea is that the ones solely serving the public interest wouldn't mind—many of them report publicly now.

But some groups don't disclose how they raise funds or how they spend them, and Washington feels that many of these would give up their tax free status rather than let the public in on their operations.

WALL STREET notes today that the Ford gifts to the colleges and universities will be in the form of endowments from which the yield will be used for 10 years—after that the schools get the principal. College endowment funds have played an increasing part in the stock market since the end of the war.

Harvard University, which gets 4½ million dollars from Ford, has the largest endowment fund. Seven years ago it had a market value of 206 million dollars. Now (not counting the new gift) its market value is put at 442 million—with 73 per cent of that seven-year gain realized by increase in market values.

Harvard's income from investments last year came to 13¾ million dollars. But Harvard says its expenses, plus the inroads of inflation, have gone up even faster and it's still poor and right thankful for this week's gift from the foundation the tin Lizzie started.

Civil Service Exams

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced examinations for Student Trainee (Forestry), $3,175 and $3,415 a year for duty in various bureaus of the Department of the Interior and in other federal agencies in the western states and in Alaska, and for Radar Instructor, $4,525, and Radar Instructor ((Trainee), $3,670 a year, for duty at the Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi, Miss. Further information and application forms may be obtained from W. P. Barry, Examiner in Charge, located at Main Post Office, Kingston, N. Y. or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Rosendale

Woman's Club Okays Group's Constitution

Rosendale, Dec. 13 — The monthly meeting of the Rosendale Womans Club was held December 8 at the home of Mrs. Elsie Spindler, with Mrs. Arthur O'Leary, president, presiding.

Mrs. Gene Van Winkle, secretary, read the Constitution which was accepted after discussion. A report of the school meeting was read by Carolyn Raposky.

It was announced that a talk be given by Mrs. Cisco at the January meeting regarding the medical aid course. Those interested are requested to contact Mrs. Robert Demarest of Tillson.

The Sunshine Committee will give Christmas gifts to several elderly people this year, it was reported.

A cordial greeting was extended to new members, including Miss Barbara Oehrlein, Mrs. Emma Pezzello, Mrs. Dorothy Krum, Mrs. Dorothy Reynolds and Mrs. Hilda Salewski.

The business meeting was followed by a Christmas party at which carols were sung by the group. Santa distributed gifts to all present. Hostesses for the evening were the Mmes. I. Spindler, Gene Van Winkle, Stephen Hubin, Joseph Hill and Leon Thorpe.

College endowment funds have played an increasing part in the stock market since the end of the war.

Harvard University, which gets 4½ million dollars from Ford, has the largest endowment fund. Seven years ago it had a market value of 206 million dollars. Now (not counting the new gift) its market value is put at 442 million—with 73 per cent of that seven-year gain realized by increase in market values.

Harvard's income from investments last year came to 13¾ million dollars. But Harvard says its expenses, plus the inroads of inflation, have gone up even faster and it's still poor and right thankful for this week's gift from the foundation the tin Lizzie started.

Lipstick on the Young

The following letter comes from an eighth-grade teacher who tells me: "The ages of my pupils range from twelve to fourteen. Some of the girls have started to wear lipstick to school. I think it is in very bad taste and at the risk of becoming very unpopular with my pupils I have made the girls remove it. I said that I didn't care what they did outside of school but that I would not have them wearing it to class. Don't you think it is improper for girls this age to wear lipstick in school, and am I right in asking them to remove it?"

I thoroughly agree with you!

A Matter of Wedding Protocol.

Dear Mrs. Post: My father-in-law is deceased and my husband was asked to give his sister in marriage. After walking up the aisle with her he took his place next to his mother in the first pew. An elderly aunt of my husband's also sat in the front pew with his mother. I was seated in the fourth pew. Am I wrong in assuming that I should have been asked to sit in the front pew with his mother and my husband, or that my husband should have at least taken his place beside me after walking up the aisle with his sister?

Answer: Although your mother-in-law might have invited you to sit with her in the first pew, this would have been very unusual. Also, as your husband was taking the place of his father, on this one special occasion it was in no way belittling to you for him to sit next to his mother.

Putting on Her Coat

Dear Mrs. Post: When leaving the movies or theater, does the man carry the woman's coat up the aisle for her to the lobby and then assist her in putting it on, or does she carry it herself and he merely help her put it on?

Answer: The correct as well as the most practical thing would be for her to be helped into it where she is and wear it up the aisle.

How to give a surprise party, bridal shower, or larder shower is explained in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-13, "Showers." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—A teenage hotrodder succeeded in outfoxing himself in his attempt to lose a couple of pursuing traffic cops. He mired his low-slung, fenderless job in a ditch, and had to escape on foot. Police are waiting for him to claim the expensive hotrod, towed to headquarters by a wrecker.

Lipstick on the Young

The following letter comes from an eighth-grade teacher who tells me: "The ages of my pupils range from twelve to fourteen. Some of the girls have started to wear lipstick to school. I think it is in very bad taste and at the risk of becoming very unpopular with my pupils I have made the girls remove it. I said that I didn't care what they did outside of school but that I would not have them wearing it to class. Don't you think it is improper for girls this age to wear lipstick in school, and am I right in asking them to remove it?"

I thoroughly agree with you!

A Matter of Wedding Protocol.

Dear Mrs. Post: My father-in-law is deceased and my husband was asked to give his sister in marriage. After walking up the aisle with her he took his place next to his mother in the first pew. An elderly aunt of my husband's also sat in the front pew with his mother. I was seated in the fourth pew. Am I wrong in assuming that I should have been asked to sit in the front pew with his mother and my husband, or that my husband should have at least taken his place beside me after walking up the aisle with his sister?

Answer: Although your mother-in-law might have invited you to sit with her in the first pew, this would have been very unusual. Also, as your husband was taking the place of his father, on this one special occasion it was in no way belittling to you for him to sit next to his mother.

Putting on Her Coat

Dear Mrs. Post: When leaving the movies or theater, does the man carry the woman's coat up the aisle for her to the lobby and then assist her in putting it on, or does she carry it herself and he merely help her put it on?

Answer: The correct as well as the most practical thing would be for her to be helped into it where she is and wear it up the aisle.

How to give a surprise party, bridal shower, or larder shower is explained in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-13, "Showers." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Simplicity is the key word for this diminutive lady's 14-karat watch. The petite look of it is dramatized by a small dial and tiny markers. The comparatively wide bezel is complemented by a lineal design in the graceful end pieces. For the gentleman in question, there is an unusually clear faced and delicate gold filled watch, its dial of sterling silver with a semi-sunburst effect. Two gift suggestions sure to make Santa popular on Christmas morning.

Jenson Refreshes Lions on Program Of Service Club

Lion Larry Jenson received a prolonged standing ovation at the weekly luncheon meeting of Kingston Lions Club yesterday following his moving presentation of the meaning of "Lionism" in terms of service to the community.

Describing what he had to say as a "refresher lecture" to the Lion membership, Mr. Jenson, a past president of the local club, defined the principles of service which govern the organization, traced briefly the history and growth of Lions International, presented several touching examples of local Lion activity and concluded with remarks summed up in his phrase, "Lionism is a friend to man."

THE BASIC responsibility of the organization is the recognition of needs of the community and the finding of means to realize those needs, he said.

Lions International was founded in 1917—the "baby of the major service clubs"—with 25 clubs represented at the first national convention held in Dallas, Tex. By 1920 the first clubs had been established in Canada. By 1927 there were clubs in Mexico and China.

In that year (1927) there were 1,810 clubs with a membership of 61,000, Mr. Jenson pointed out. From 1927 on the growth of Lions International was "phenomenal."

TODAY THERE ARE almost 12,000 clubs with representation in 70 nations or geographic areas on six continents and a total membersip of 522,000, Mr. Jenson said. During the past year 844 new clubs were formed —during the past three years, more than 3000 clubs.

What is "more important," however, he said, is the number of "worthwhile service activities" reported from clubs all over the world—a total of 166,616 such activities during the past year.

Mr. Jenson called attention also to the by-laws on attendance and payment of dues, pointing out that in order to maintain good standing a member must attend 60 per cent of Lions meetings and cannot miss four straight meetings without suffering automatic suspension. He is also required to maintain good dues standing.

PRESIDENT Harry Gold announced that a $25 gift had been approved by the executive committee for the Dr. Larsen's Seeing Eye Foundation in Long Island and $60 to send two delegates from the adult education class at Kingston High School to a conference on Americanism in Albany sponsored by the New York State Department of Education.

He announced also that two $300 scholarships were being offered to Kingston High School students planning to study retailing. These are the only two scholarships in this field in the entire state.

It was also announced that a Lions committee was promoting a local member, William R. Stall, a Lions deputy district governor, for election to the office of governor.

Dr. Steven McGrath reported that he had purchased a number of practical gifts, such as Braille objects, alarm clocks, etc., to be given to Ulster county's blind people during the Christmas season. A list of county blind is being prepared. He announced also that a party for the blind was being planned for January.

Harold O'Connor, chairman of the program committee for December, introduced Mr. Jenson.

Three Negligence Actions Started In Supreme Court

Three negligence actions arising out out of a collision at the entrance to the Rondout Creek bridge on March 26, 1953, were moved for trial in Supreme Court Tuesday before Justice Harry E. Schirick and a jury.

William P. Trinkle of Port Ewen, his wife, Dorothy, and their small daughter were injured when their car and a tractor-trailer collided at Wurts street entrance to the bridge as he was about to make a left turn from Abeel street to the bridge. The driver of the truck was arrested on a charge of passing the light at the bridge entrance and was fined $10 in City Court.

Trinkle, an employe of Callanan Road Improvement Company was severely injured and alleges he has been unable to resume his old position as a shovel operator.

The action is brought against Joseph H. Smith & Co., Inc., and the driver Holmes.

James Kylie appears for plaintiffs and John Scully of Oliver, Scully and Delaney for defendants.

The members of the Uptown Association, which is offering the free transportation to those who park at the stadium on weekends, during the time the stores are open for Christmas shopping, feel that the service will do much to relieve the parking problem in the shopping center.

For holiday evenings this year—and for year-round, life-time enjoyment, a Christmas gift of cultured pearl jewelry. The necklace, perfectly matched pearls in a graduated strand. The ring and matching earrings, in yellow gold pinwheel settings, are "mabe," or half, pearls. Her bracelet of pearl and gold links dangles a large pearl-rimmed charm. For added sparkle, a gold finish mesh evening bag.

Experts Survey

located should there be a change in highway alignment.

MR. DODDS, also here in September for a preliminary highway survey said Ulster county was a fast growing community which presented many traffic problems. He said there was need for study of routes, amount of traffic and possible future traffic requirements. Usefulness of existing highways and future adequacy would have to be determined by a study from which a plan could be devised. Maps would have to be prepared from data secured through the survey and the traffic problem then rounded out with an eye for the future. In the survey attention would be given to future industrial development of areas, housing and a study would have to be made of the Kingston-urban arterial routes.

One of the "big headaches" today in highway route establishments is the matter of acquiring lands for rights of way. Attention should be given at this time toward acquiring necessary rights of way for future extension of roads, relocation of main arteries, etc. The time to acquire such rights of way was before the areas were built up, acquired by businesses or industry and the cost of the necessary property for highways had skyrocketed.

ACTING Superintendent of Highways Roland Green told the board a survey "should be made by experts" to determine highway needs and proper location of main arteries, bridges, etc. Some of the existing bridges maintained by the county are purely local and should become town maintained. Others should be made a part of the county system and modernized. He cited the need of wider and strengthened bridges on several secondary routes which would become important civilian routes in the event of closing main arteries in case of emergency by Civil Defense. Routes 208, 32 and 9-W, all Civil Defense routes would be closed to traffic in the event of an emergency, which he said he hoped never would come, and then traffic would have to be diverted over secondary roads where loads are limited to six tons because of weak bridge structures. He suggested the survey be made by an "unbiased" firm.

Supervisor Turck (D) of the fourth ward said he believed we had qualified men in the county who could make the necessary study and survey without the additional expense of bringing in an out of county firm.

Supervisor McHugh (R) of Shawangunk said the job was a big one and he felt there was not a qualified local man for this type of survey since it involved not only highways but bridges and drainage problems.

Supervisor Fiore (D) of the fifth ward called attention to the condition of the Eddyville bridge which he said was very narrow and in bad condition. There had been talk of relocating it and presently it was closed to traffic while repairs were being made.

Supervisor Bush (R) said this was a state bridge and both he and Supervisor Eckert (R) of Esopus had requested the state to make repairs immediately. They had been told by the state it was a state bridge and they "would take care of it at their convenience." He said County Superintendent Green had other work to attend to and he felt Green had all he could do to attend to regular work.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED the public hearing on the budget would be held Thursday at 3 p. m. Supervisor Turck asked why these public hearings could not be held in the evening when working people could attend.

Supervisor Williams of Saugerties and McHugh of Shawangunk stated it was an element of time involved. Adopting of the budget must be had before the tax rolls could be made out and it was necessary to act after adoption of the budget to get these rollls out.

The board adjourned to meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock when the budget will be presented for approval. A meeting of the budget committee will be held immediately after the public hearing Thursday to consider and changes in the budget which may be required after the public hearing before the budget committee.

IN THE DOUGH—Mrs. Henry Jorgensen of Portland, Ore., smiles as she holds up check for $25,000 after winning top prize in annual bakeoff in New York. Mrs. Jorgensen topped a field of 100 finalists with her recipe for an easy-to-make sweet roll described as "a no-knead sweet roll made with a twist of the wrist." (AP Wirephoto)

Light Problem

Easton, Pa. (AP)—It didn't take Stanley Decker of Easton long to find out that it wasn't his headlights that had gone bad. Decker started for Philipsburg one evening. After several blocks he noticed the headlights didn't seem to be working. He found them painted over completely with black poster paint.

Routes 208, 32 and 9-W, all Civil Defense routes would be closed to traffic in the event of an emergency, which he said he hoped never would come, and then traffic would have to be diverted over secondary roads where loads are limited to six tons because of weak bridge structures. He suggested the survey be made by an "unbiased" firm.

Supervisor Turck (D) of the fourth ward said he believed we had qualified men in the county who could make the necessary study and survey without the additional expense of bringing in an out of county firm.

Supervisor McHugh (R) of Shawangunk said the job was a big one and he felt there was not a qualified local man for this type of survey since it involved not only highways but bridges and drainage problems.

Supervisor Fiore (D) of the fifth ward called attention to the condition of the Eddyville bridge which he said was very narrow and in bad condition. There had been talk of relocating it and presently it was closed to traffic while repairs were being made.

Supervisor Bush (R) said this was a state bridge and both he and Supervisor Eckert (R) of Esopus had requested the state to make repairs immediately. They had been told by the state it was a state bridge and they "would take care of it at their convenience." He said County Superintendent Green had other work to attend to and he felt Green had all he could do to attend to regular work.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED the public hearing on the budget would be held Thursday at 3 p. m. Supervisor Turck asked why these public hearings could not be held in the evening when working people could attend.

Supervisor Williams of Saugerties and McHugh of Shawangunk stated it was an element of time involved. Adopting of the budget must be had before the tax rolls could be made out and it was necessary to act after adoption of the budget to get these rollls out.

The board adjourned to meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock when the budget will be presented for approval. A meeting of the budget committee will be held immediately after the public hearing Thursday to consider and changes in the budget which may be required after the public hearing before the budget committee.

spray deposits were irregular and inadequate, and the addition of adjuvants or other pesticides to DDT that result in lower deposits on the trees and foliage."

He said that in most orchards DDT would still control codling moth where deposits of 7.5 micrograms per square centimeter are maintained. Excessive residues of DDT are likely to occur on certain varieties "where DDT sprays are applied within 40 days of harvest. Materials other than DDT that have given good control of codling moth and are suggested for use during August, just prior to harvest, are parathion, EPN and ryania.

"Diazinon controls codling moth but is not registered for use on apples. Parathion, Diazinon and malathion were found to be especially effective against eggs and adults and in killing larvae that had entered the fruit. Under orchard conditions mixtures of DDT and parathion or DDT and Diazinon, or ryania alone, gave the best control."

Mr. LaPlante, speaking on the topic, How Well Are We Staying Within Residue Tolerance With Our Present Spray Program? What Modifications Can We Make? reported on the analysis of apples taken in several surveys.

He described briefly a law effective as of last summer setting up spray "tolerances." A survey during the fall of materials being used in spraying indicate that growers will be able to apply DDT as close as three weeks to harvest and thus have a full insect control program.

He said growers wouldn't have to worry too much about giving adequate insect control, that they would be able to maintain control and still comply with the provisions of Public Law 518.

Mr. Dean, speaking on Observations and Results of Insecticide Control Tests in the Hudson Valley, 1955, presented data on the European red mite, the plum curculio, codling moth and apple maggot, describing spray tests in Hudson Valley orchards during the past summer.

Work in the orchards was carried on with the cooperation of area fruit growers, he said.

He pointed out that "one of our old pests, the codling moth, gave evidence of becoming more abundant than it has been since the induction of DDT in 1945," attributing the increase of the moth to a hot dry summer which favors its development. "We have no reason to believe the moth has become resistant in this section."

IN GENERAL, insect pests were not difficult to control in 1955, Mr. Dean said.

In Ulster county "we have a relatively new pest," he pointed out—the European apple sawfly. He said it had been known for several years in Rockland, Westchester and Orange counties and had also been reported in Dutchess county. This year its presence has been confirmed in some southern Ulster county orchards but was found to be limited to a few orchards in the vicinity of Marlborough, he said.

THE FOLLOWING speakers will be heard this afternoon: Joe Firth, Department of Agriculture and Markets, Albany, Report on Quality of Apples Being Sold in Our Stores; D. H. Palmiter, Poughkeepsie, Results of Scab Control Experiments in the Hudson Valley; A. B. Burrell, department of plant pathology, Cornell, Impressions of Apple Fungicides; W. D. Mills, extension plant pathologist, Cornell, What Should We Do About the Mildew Problem?; Michael Szkolnik, Geneva Experiment Station, Effect of Pesticides on Yield and Quality of Apples; M. B. Hoffman, department of pomology, Cornell, Thinning Apples and Peaches; L. S. Hubbard, Jr., Poughkeepsie, Observations on the Effect of Soil Culture on Insect and Disease Control.

The College of Agriculture, the State Experiment Station and the Poughkeepsie Laboratory have interesting displays of work being done and men in charge to explain and answer questions. Four-H, Future Farmer and other contest exhibits are located in the garage adjoining the drill hall.

2 Soviets Leave India for Home Still Bitterly Attacking West

New Delhi, Dec. 14 (AP)—Premier Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchef, Soviet traveling salesmen of Communist cooperation and discord, left India today after a month of warming up the cold war with bitter attacks on the western nations.

They left behind pledges of closer political, economic and cultural cooperation between Russia and this key nation of southern Asia.

The Russians planned to fly direct to Tashkent, in the south of Soviet Asia, to wait out a snowstorm raging at Kabul, Afghanistan, final stop on their tour through non-Communist Asia.

In a final communique, Bulganin and Indian Prime Minister Nehru called for "unconditional prohibition of nuclear and thermonuclear weapons, along with a "substantial reduction of conventional armaments, coupled with effective international control."

But in a separate statement to newsmen Bulganin and Khrushchev said the Soviet Union could not disarm unless the other big powers did.

Until atomic and hydrogen weapons are banned "completely and unconditionally," they declared, "the Soviet Union is compelled to, and in the future will take care to, strengthen its defensive capacity and produce atomic and hydrogen weapons."

The huge enthusiastic crowds which greeted the Russians everywhere on their four-week tour of India and Burma again were out to give a goodbye ovation. Touring loudspeakers and free buses swelled the outpouring along the route to the airfield and at the field itself.

"I am leaving part of my heart behind in India," said Khrushchev, echoing Indian Prime Minister Nehru's statement when he wound up his visit to Russia last June.

"Our entire generation will remember your visit," Nehru replied.

But the Indian prime minister took pains to reassure the non-Communist world, as he had several times after his Russian visitors blasts at the West, that "our friendship with the Soviet Union is not directed against anybody."

"Our getting close to the Soviet Union does not mean that we are drawing away from others," Nehru declared. "Indo-Soviet friendship will be good for the whole world."

For India, the chief concrete result of the visit appeared to be an agreement announced in the joint communique to expand trade between the two nations. There was nothing said about the many millions in gifts, grants or other economic aid which many Indians had expected to materialize.

Instead Russia agreed to sell India a million tons of steel over a three-year period, plus equipment for oil production and mining. In return the Soviets said they would increase their purchases of Indian raw materials and manufactured goods substantially "with the hope that the value of these goods will equal the value of Indian purchases of Russia."

The two nations also agreed to organize a regular service of Indian and Soviet ships to carry the expanded commerce.

The communique also exchanged a broad cooperation and largely rehashed a similar statement Bulganin and Nehru signed in Moscow.

In addition to insisting on the necessity of disarmament, the two premiers called again for the admission of Communist China to the United Nations. They said the "disappointment of the foreign ministers' conference in Geneva need be only temporary," that "every effort should be continued for a relaxation of international tension" and for settlement of differences solely through negotiation.

trade in many of the nation's great industrial centers. Pittsburgh is "5 to 10 per cent ahead of normal."

J. W. Vanden Bosch, business analyst for the Cleveland, Ohio, Chamber of Commerce, says heavier Christmas sales are expected because payrolls in the greater Cleveland industrial area for the final quarter of 1955 are up about 55 million dollars from a year ago.

Here and there, you'll find shoppers curbing their Christmas spending. A New Orleans department store official notes that "shoppers are a little more cautious this year . . . Credit is a little tight." And a survey by the Los Angeles Mirror-News shows that families in the $3,100 to $5,000 income bracket are buying less for Christmas than a year ago. Reasons include: New babies, medical bills, payments on new homes, higher property taxes. Higher income shoppers are spending lavishly, however, and many Los Angeles merchants see new records coming up.

Free spending is the rule this year in the Carolinas. An AP shopping survey finds Carolina customers "plentiful, eager and loaded with money or ready credit."

New York's glittering shops are gunning for new records. Macy's says its business is "going according to plan, or about 5 per cent ahead of last year."

sued a brief comment on the arrival in West Germany of the Bonn government's former counterintelligence chief after a 16-month stay with the Reds. The 47-word comment, distributed by the East German news agency ADN, tried to give a sort of tacit blessing to John's departure to the West, saying:

"Herr Dr. John, former president of the Bonn Office for the Protection of the Constitution, who was granted asylum in the (East) German Democratic Republic on July 20, 1954, has left the German Democratic Republic. Dr. John had repeatedly stated he intends to conduct the fight against neo-fascism in West Germany."

In Bonn, where John was brought after slipping secretly into West Berlin Monday, he was given a thorough grilling by an examining judge. Federal officials said that after several hours of questioning, the judge took off last night for Karlsruhe, seat of the Federal Constitutional Court, West Germany's highest tribunal.

Losee Indicted In Death of Boy

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP) — Harvey William Losee, a 47-year-old handyman at the Anderson School in nearby Staatsburg, was indicted Tuesday on a second degree murder charge in the slaying of 12-year-old Gerald Foster of Poughkeepsie.

A Dutchess county grand jury charged Losee with beating the boy to death with an iron pipe and leaving the body in a wooded section of the school grounds Oct. 28.

Young Foster had run away from home following an argument with his parents on Oct. 12. Authorities said Losee attacked the boy for refusing his order to leave a barn on the school property.

Estes Still Evasive

San Diego, Calif., Dec. 14 (AP) —Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) remains evasive as to whether he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination but says he will announce his decision "very soon." Asked by newsmen last night about reports that he would make known his decision at a meeting of Democratic leaders in Washington Friday, Kefauver said: "I have not invited anyone to that meeting . . . When I have reached a decision I will call a press conference for the announcement."

"The public must stand up for its right to know or else there'll be only slaves and serfs, and the right to know will be forever gone."

Seven Will Die

Damascus, Syria, Dec. 14 (AP)—Seven persons were sentenced to death—five in absentia—by a Syrian military tribunal yesterday as accomplices in the assassination of Col. Adnan Malki last April. Six defendants were given prison sentences. Malki, deputy chief of staff of the Syrian army, was shot dead while attending a football match. The five sentenced in absentia were members of the Syrian Social Nationalist party, accused of plotting the killing.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP) — Harvey William Losee, a 47-year-old handyman at the Anderson School in nearby Staatsburg, was indicted Tuesday on a second degree murder charge in the slaying of 12-year-old Gerald Foster of Poughkeepsie.

A Dutchess county grand jury charged Losee with beating the boy to death with an iron pipe and leaving the body in a wooded section of the school grounds Oct. 28.

Young Foster had run away from home following an argument with his parents on Oct. 12. Authorities said Losee attacked the boy for refusing his order to leave a barn on the school property.

Estes Still Evasive

San Diego, Calif., Dec. 14 (AP) —Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) remains evasive as to whether he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination but says he will announce his decision "very soon." Asked by newsmen last night about reports that he would make known his decision at a meeting of Democratic leaders in Washington Friday, Kefauver said: "I have not invited anyone to that meeting . . . When I have reached a decision I will call a press conference for the announcement."

The right of the public to news is being "denied altogether or materially suppressed" as never before in the history of the United States, the jurist said.

"The right to know," he added, "is one of the fundamental guarantees of freedom and liberty. We must not surrender this right. We must not let it be weakened at any point.

"The public must stand up for its right to know or else there'll be only slaves and serfs, and the right to know will be forever gone."

135 Reds Arrested

Nicosia, Cyprus, Dec. 14 (AP)—Britain banned the Communist party in this rebellious crown colony today and rounded up 135 Red leaders in lightning raids. The island flared in a new wave of strikes, bombings and demonstrations protesting the anti-Red move.

The ancients attributed to the devil the power that tin has to harden copper.

Seven Will Die

Damascus, Syria, Dec. 14 (AP)—Seven persons were sentenced to death—five in absentia—by a Syrian military tribunal yesterday as accomplices in the assassination of Col. Adnan Malki last April. Six defendants were given prison sentences. Malki, deputy chief of staff of the Syrian army, was shot dead while attending a football match. The five sentenced in absentia were members of the Syrian Social Nationalist party, accused of plotting the killing.

Gaitskell Seems To Have Edge For Attlee Post

London, Dec. 14 (AP)—The leadership of Britain's Labor party is going, apparently, to a dapper Socialist who used to wear a derby and carry a cane.

There's a three-cornered race for the job of succeeding Clement R. Attlee. But Hugh Todd Naylor Gaitskell seems to have the advantage over Herbert Stanley Morrison and Aneurin Bevan. Results of balloting among the 278 Labor members of the House of Commons are expected late tonight.

GAITSKELL, 49, is not a born-in-the-shadow-of-the gashouse Socialist. He was 12 when he wore the derby and carried the stick—the uniform of Winchester, one of Britain's most exclusive schools for the monied classes.

Gaitskell, decided a long time ago, however, that his future lay with promoting socialism. He recalls the reaction of the female relative to whom he proudly confessed his first deep political conviction:

"I do not know what England is coming to."

While Gaitskell swerved to the left, he didn't swing all the way. He found his niche somewhere between the right wing and the center of the Labor party.

HIS GRANDFATHER was consul general in Shanghai. His father had a job in the Indian Civil Service. An older brother was an administrator in the Sudan. His childhood was peopled with servants and he lived well.

But young Gaitsgell got to know disappointment.

He hoped to win a scholarship to Winchester. He didn't get it, but he went just the same.

"Gaitskell," a schoolmate recalls, "was always pointed out to me as the boy who was going to win the junior steeplechase. He didn't."

At Oxford, after some minor disappointments, he won top marks in economics, politics and philosophy.

AFTER OXFORD Gaitskell became a teacher and slowly his interests shifted to economics and politics. In 1931 and 1935 he ran for Parliament on the Socialist ticket and lost.

An Anglican, he married Anna Dora Creditor, daughter of a Russian Jew. They have two daughters.

At the beginning of the war he became private secretary to Hugh Dalton, a big figure in the Labor party. In 1942 UNRRA (United Nations Relief) offered him a job. He appealed to Dalton for advice—and stayed in politics.

In 1945 he finally got into Parliament. Within six months he was parliamentary secretary to a minister. In 1947 he became the minister of fuel and power and in 1950 chancellor of the exchequer, a top job corresponding to secretary of the treasury in Washington.

He has been out of a top job since Sir Winston Churchill's Conservatives won the 1951 election, but has remained in Parliament. The Daily Mail (Conservative) calls him "one of the most remarkable political phenomena of our time."

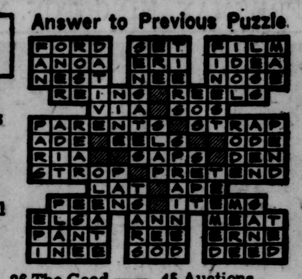
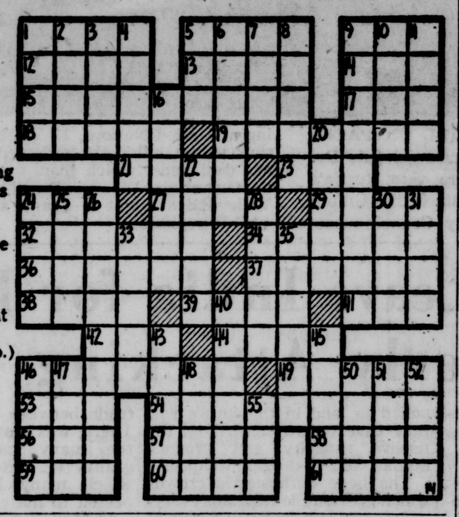
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Back in the good old days in Rondout there used to be various excitement such as a man riding down Broadway hill on a bicycle and not being able to control his brakes thus going headlong into S. E. Eighmey's department store big plate window. The Freeman wrote it up Tuesday, July 30, 1912. The store was on the corner of Mill and Broadway. I heard tell about this for years to come. The accident happened about half past two in the afternoon, it was summer, most of the merchants were around about the front of their stores, and so there were many eye-witnesses no doubt. I understand he yelled so that folks would get out of his way, and over the handle-bars he went. He was deeply cut by the plate glass, around the head and above the heart. They give his name as George Harris, but not his residence nor his age. He was treated by Dr. Frank Eastman and then sent to the Benedictine Hospital. No doubt there are many folks downtown who remember this incident.

In the same paper there is a description how the Kingston Lodge, No. 10 Free and Accepted Masons lodge in the Ulster County Savings Institution building were re-decorated. New carpet and furnishings were purchased, "A large new reception room is also being constructed, for No. 10, one of the largest as well as the oldest Masonic lodges in the state and has far outgrown its present quarters." Today all the chapters meet in the new Masonic building on Albany avenue. In an August 9, 1912 issue a small item reads: "the town boards of Esopus and Ulster will meet next week and make an examination of the new Eddyville bridge before they vote on accepting it." Also, at the time, the Broadway Theatre fixtures and unexpired lease were sold at mortagee's sale at the theater. There was a bid by Jane Farley for $250.

Also Port Ewen and Sleightsburgh that year were being canvassed by the Kingston Gas and Electric Co. for gas, but it seems they did not get enough villagers interested at the time to go to the expense of laying the pipes under the Rondout Creek and other preliminary work. I do not know if at the time tank gas was used as it is today, for cooking and heating. It certainly is a marvelous invention, I mean tank gas. It makes each house owner and tenant independent to buy the gas where they please and install it wherever it is convenient. It heats hot water and used in modern ranges like other gas. Today a cottage which can be reached by a truck no matter where it is can have the convenience of instant and continuous hot water, and a modern cooking stove just by using tank gas. Really remarkable. Electric power lines can be down, gas service can be interrupted in a whole community but tank gas is as independent as a coal stove, as long as you keep it lit. No doubt in a short time, an entire new house heating improvement will also be invented by someone which will have it all over the old systems. I think if pictures and live shows could be brought into private homes by TV experts then just anything can be invented in this day and age by our modern geniuses.

Fire Destroys Tugboat

Port Chester, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP)—A tugboat was virtually destroyed by fire just outside Port Chester harbor yesterday after an engine room blaze got out of control. The crew escaped without injury. Fire-fighting efforts of the crew and coast guard failed to save the vessel, the Kenvin B, owned by the Bronx Towing Co. of New York. The tug was towing two empty sand barges from Port Chester to New York when the fire broke out. It was finally beached on Great Captains Island off Greenwich, Conn., while still aflame.

Large Steam Generator Goes Into Operation

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 14 (AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority reported today that what it called the world's largest steam generating plant" has gone into full operation.

The Kingston steam plant at nearby Kingston now is making full use of all nine of its generating units, increasing the installed capacity of the TVA power system to 9,024,985 kilowatts.

A celebration by plant employes was conducted last month at Kingston, marking completion of the plant. Actually, however, the ninth 18,000-kw unit had not yet gone into operation because of equipment delays.

Since this unit went into operation, the plant has had an installed capacity of 1,440,000 kw.

Mother to Face Murder Of Mate's Second Wife

Casper, Wyo., Dec. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Rose Alexander, stocky mother of two, must stand trial on a charge she murdered her husband's second wife and buried the body in the cellar of an East Casper home.

The husband, James, 48, also was held yesterday on $10,000 property bond as a material witness.

Peace Justice Alice K. Burridge held them for District Court action after a long preliminary hearing at which State Attorneys sought to trace the involved relationship of the pair and of Barbara Alexander, 27, whose remains were chipped from a concrete tomb in the basement of the Alexander home last week.

District Court is expected to meet late next spring.

Rose, 42, testified at an inquest last Thursday that Barbara, a blonde divorcee, died in an accident at the home July 18, 1953. She said she buried the body two days later, and that Alexander knew nothing about it.

Jaycees to Help Kiddies Purchase Christmas Gifts

Childen of Kingston who might not otherwise be able to do so, will again have the opportunity to buy Christmas gifts for their loved ones.

Members of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce and their wives are sponsoring their second annual Christmas shopping tour. Children participating in the tour were chosen on the basis of information supplied by various local charitable organizations.

The children will buy gifts with money contributed by Kingston area residents through the Junior Chamber.

JAYCEES and Jayncees will take 60 of the youngsters shopping in Kingston stores Sat., Dec. 17, and Sat., Dec. 24.

"The tour gives the children a chance to feel the real spirit of Christmas," according to Rudy Turck, project chairman. "They are very grateful for the gifts they receive, and it gives them just as much of a thrill to buy gifts for others."

Contributions, in the form of checks and money orders, may be sent to "Christmas Shopping Tour," 28 North street.

Deadline for donations is Tuesday, Dec. 20.

Couple Convicted In Robbery Attempt

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 14 (AP)—A Newark, N. J., couple has been convicted of taking part in the attempt to rob the First National Bank of Ulster, Bradford county, Sept. 12.

Phillips and Henrietta Anthony, each 42, were accused of plotting the robbery with Linwood White, 27, also of Newark. All three were arrested in Horseheads, N. Y., shortly after the attempt.

A teller at the bank foiled the robbery when he dived to the floor after White shoved a shotgun at him. The teller sounded the alarm and White fled, along with the Anthonys.

White already has pleaded guilty. He implicated the Anthonys.

The Anthonys face maximum sentences of 10 years each on the charges. U. S. District Court Judge John W. Murphy set no date for sentencing.

SINGER BOOKED ON DRUNK CHARGE—Singer Gordon McRae sits in police car in Van Nuys, Calif., after his auto was involved in four-car collision. Police who booked McRae on suspicion of drunk driving said his car rammed into rear car in a line of three waiting at a stop signal. They say he failed to pass an intoximeter test. (AP Wirephoto)

Both Sue for Divorce

Bunnell, Fla., Dec. 14 (AP)—Singer Dorothy McGuire, a member of the Arthur Godfrey broadcasting troupe, and her husband are suing each other for divorce. Both charge cruelty. Miss McGuire, 27, has several times complained that her married life with Sgt. John Henry Brown of the air force was overcast by too much publicity. Public interest in the marriage began two years ago when former Godfrey singer Julius La Rosa was dismissed from the troupe during a broadcast. At the time he said he loved Dorothy and wanted to marry her if she could gain her freedom.

Counted Out

Cottonwood, Ariz. (AP)—Terry Finnegan of Phoenix was brought before a justice of the peace on a charge of catching over the limit of fish. Asked to count the fish, he didn't get the right answer, but did get a very red face. He had miscounted by one. Finnegan is a mathematics teacher.

Governor to Open 28-Mile Section Of New Thruway

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP)—Gov. Hariman will make three speeches tomorrow at day-long ceremonies preceding the opening of a 28-mile section that will bring the state thruway to within three miles of New York city.

The section, including a Hudson river bridge linking Nyack and Tarrytown, will be opened at about 3:45 p. m., in time to carry traffic on the evening rush from the city. It will extend the toll superhighway from Suffern, Rockland county, to Yonkers, Westchester county. The western terminus is at Buffalo.

Harriman will speak at the South Nyack interchange shortly after 11 a. m., at the Tarrytown interchange about noon and at a luncheon in Tarrytown. Miss Helen Hayes, the actress will take part in the South Nyack ceremony.

Chairman Bertram D. Tallamy of the Thruway Authority will be chief speaker at ceremonies beginning at 9:15 a. m. at Suffern and at 3:15 p. m. at the Tuckahoe road toll barrier in Yonkers.

Jack Webbs Reconcile

Hollywood, Dec. 14 (AP)—Dragnet's Jack Webb reports he and his wife, Dorothy Towne, have reconciled after a four-week separation. The Sgt. Friday of television said yesterday, "we are trying to work out our problems. We hope to spend more time together." Webb, 35, and Miss Towne, 25, were wed last January in Chicago. Mother to Face Murder Of Mate's Second Wife

Casper, Wyo., Dec. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Rose Alexander, stocky mother of two, must stand trial on a charge she murdered her husband's second wife and buried the body in the cellar of an East Casper home.

The husband, James, 48, also was held yesterday on $10,000 property bond as a material witness.

Peace Justice Alice K. Burridge held them for District Court action after a long preliminary hearing at which State Attorneys sought to trace the involved relationship of the pair and of Barbara Alexander, 27, whose remains were chipped from a concrete tomb in the basement of the Alexander home last week.

District Court is expected to meet late next spring.

Rose, 42, testified at an inquest last Thursday that Barbara, a blonde divorcee, died in an accident at the home July 18, 1953. She said she buried the body two days later, and that Alexander knew nothing about it.

"The tour gives the children a chance to feel the real spirit of Christmas," according to Rudy Turck, project chairman. "They are very grateful for the gifts they receive, and it gives them just as much of a thrill to buy gifts for others."

Contributions, in the form of checks and money orders, may be sent to "Christmas Shopping Tour," 28 North street.

Deadline for donations is Tuesday, Dec. 20.

Couple Convicted In Robbery Attempt

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 14 (AP)—A Newark, N. J., couple has been convicted of taking part in the attempt to rob the First National Bank of Ulster, Bradford county, Sept. 12.

Phillips and Henrietta Anthony, each 42, were accused of plotting the robbery with Linwood White, 27, also of Newark. All three were arrested in Horseheads, N. Y., shortly after the attempt.

A teller at the bank foiled the robbery when he dived to the floor after White shoved a shotgun at him. The teller sounded the alarm and White fled, along with the Anthonys.

White already has pleaded guilty. He implicated the Anthonys.

The Anthonys face maximum sentences of 10 years each on the charges. U. S. District Court Judge John W. Murphy set no date for sentencing.

Steak With Mushrooms Still a Fancy Dish

STEAK WITH PLENTY of mushrooms to add their flavor and luxurious decorative touch is anyone's idea of a meal.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

In Southern Pennsylvania they grow and can nearly 2/3 of our national supply of mushrooms. We went through that beautiful rolling country and talked good eating with several amiable growers and canners. Here is what we learned about mushroom sauces for broiled steak.

Mushroom Steak Sauce

One 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 cups liquid, made from mushroom liquid and water, ¼ teaspoon salt, pepper to taste.

Drain mushrooms, saving liquid. Add mushrooms to steak driggings in saucepan or skillet and brown. Add flour, stir until browned. Stir in mushroom liquid, adding water to make 2 cups liquid. Add seasonings. Simmer, stirring until smooth. Pour over steak on platter.

Mushroom Garlic Butter

One-quarter cup butter, 1 small clove garlic, minced fine, 2 4-ounce cans sliced mushrooms, drained. Melt butter and continue to cook until brown. Add garlic and mushrooms. Continue to heat until mushrooms are hot. Serve over steak.

Mushroom Chili Sauce

One 4-ounce can button mushrooms, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup milk, liquid drained from mushrooms in butter and then remove them and set aside. Blend flour, salt and pepper into butter. Add, slowly, milk and mushroom liquid. When smooth and boiling, add chili sauce and sauteed mushrooms. Serve hot on steak or meat loaf.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Broiled steak, mushroom garlic sauce, French fried potatoes, creamed spinach, French bread, butter or margarine, green salad, apple pie, cheese, coffee, tea, milk.

Square Club Sponsors Citizen Award Project

Woodstock, Dec. 13 — Residents will have until January 3 to send in their selections for the Outstanding Citizen of The Township of Woodstock.

If they know of some person in one of the clubs, churches, town offices or any organization that should be honored for the work they have done for the town, nominations should be sent in for consideration. It might be a leader of the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts, the disabled Veterans or one who has done much for the health or wealth of the town of Woodstock.

The Woodstock Square Club feels that such a person should be recognized in some fitting manner and will do this at their annual dinner on Thursday, January 19. But the members of the Square Club feel that the people of Woodstock should help them to make their selection. A short note may be sent to the Citizen Committee, Woodstock Square Club, Woodstock, stating the name of the person and the reason for selection as an outstanding citizen. It costs nothing and in sending in a candidate a service is being done for someone who has helped to make Woodstock a unique place.

Several names have been received by the committee already and plans are going forward to make this annual presentation each year on the third Thursday of January.

A committee from the church has begun work in the selection of a new organ.

The Sunday school will give its annual Christmas program on Thursday, Dec. 22, at 7:30 p. m. in the church ending with a visit by Santa Claus.

Harriman Asked ToBarExtradition

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—The New York branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People urged Gov. Averell Harriman last night to refuse to extradite a Negro minister to South Carolina, where he is wanted on an assault and battery charge.

The minister, the Rev. A. J. DeLaine is accused of shooting with intent to kill at an automobile near his Florence, S. C., home last Oct. 10. He claims he was fired at from the car first and that he opened fire "to mark the car."

Following the incident, the Rev. Mr. DeLaine fled South Carolina to New York, where he has been staying with Bishop D. Ward Nichols of the African Methodist Church. He surrendered to police on Nov. 25 and was booked as a fugitive from justice. He was paroled to permit preparation of an appeal.

In a telegram to Harriman, the executive committee of the New York branch of the NAACP said "the entire State of New York is outraged at recent injustices in the south, particularly South Carolina and Mississippi. New York state should not lend its aid to bigoted authorities who have a dual standard of justice, one for whites and another for Negroes."

The telegram called on Harriman to "refuse to send the Rev. DeLaine back to South Carolina and the White Citizens Council."

Maroon Cagers Drub Monticello for Third Victory, 84-38

Locals Roll In 2nd Period; Shooting Good

Kingston Commits Only Four Personals

By CHUCK NORD
(Freeman Sports Staff)

Scoring almost at will, Kingston High School romped to its third straight basketball victory last night at the Kate Walton Field House, an 84-38 rout of hapless Monticello.

The one-sided DUSO League game (to call it a contest would be a misnomer) was played before half-full bleachers.

Those who witnessed the tilt saw Jack Gilligan's Maroons break the game wide open in the second period and coast home from there.

THE ONLY outstanding features of the game were Kingston's terrific field goal percentage, the Maroons' near-absence of personal fouls and their excellent passwork.

The locals connected on better than 50 per cent of their shots from the floor until the fourth period, when they rimmed seven in 17 tries.

Only four infractions of the rule book were tooted against the Kingstonians. And Monticello was charged with only 11 fouls.

The KHS crew made only one bad pass all evening.

Gilligan experimented with a number of offensive and defensive maneuvers, and also gave the KHS reserves a chance to show their talents. The subs performed surprisingly well.

The starting five, held on fairly even terms for the first eight minutes, turned a zone defense on the Monties in the second period. The visitors, who scored 18 points in the first quarter, couldn't cope with the new setup and were soon hopelessly behind.

AFTER RUNNING UP a 20-point lead midway in the quarter, the first team took a rest. Monticello got no such respite from the Maroon replacements, however. The second stringers merely added insult to injury.

The reserves had the floor until the fourth period, when the starters returned for a final go.

Monticello must have become slightly confused by the different defenses. The locals employed a man-to-man in the first and third periods, a zone in the second and a full-court press in the fourth.

While Kingston's shotmaking was excellent, Monticello's was a bit poor. The Monties tallied 17 times on 60 field goal attempts.

Of the 11 players who suited up for the game, all saw action and all but one shared in the scoring.

RICHIE STRONG, the six-foot-six center, led the point parade with 16, and also led in rebounding with 15. Strong got half of his point total during the second period, when the Maroons made their big push.

Bob Smith was the only other player in double figures, racking up a dozen points. The forwards Tony Grimaldi and Tom Flemming, hooped nine each and guard Al Long added six.

Larry Johnson and Melvin Williams of the reserve contingent had eight apiece. Jim "Junior" Jackson, another who saw plenty of action, had seven.

Marv Schwartz and Bob Rosen paced the visitors with eight points each.

Warriors, Knicks Take NBA Games; Hennessy Hero

(By The Associated Press)

The Philadelphia Warriors in the NBA are stacked with so many high scorers that Larry Hennessy, an outstanding player in college rarely gets off the bench.

But the Warriors needed him last night—and how!

Hennessy, formerly of Villanova, sank a long set shot with only 20 seconds remaining to give the Eastern Division leaders a pulsating 109-108 victory over the Boston Celtics.

THE TRIUMPH gave Philadelphia a 13-5 record. Neil Johnston of the Warriors and Bob Cousy shared game scoring honors with 29 points apiece.

In the only other game, the New York Knickerbockers led all the way to trip the hapless Minneapolis Lakers 98-91. The Knicks remained two games behind Philadelphia while the Lakers dropped further into the Western Division dungeon.

Pro Football Attendance Sets All-Time Record

(By The Associated Press)

Professional football played to the biggest crowds in its history this fall, an Associated Press survey of the 12 National Football League cities showed today. Attendance was up approximately 12.7 per cent over 1954, also a record.

The clubs reported 1955 attendance hit 2,722,685 compared with 2,415,948 in 1954. Average crowd for 72 league games in 1955 was a record 37,815.

This is the fifth straight year that attendance has shown a gain, which began when the National League merged in 1949 with the now defunct All-America Conference.

Ferraro Rolls Out In Singles

John Ferraro of Kingston failed to qualify for the semi-finals of the National All Star bowling tournament in Chicago yesterday.

His total of 4524 for 18 games was far short of the 4700 estimated necessary to make the semis.

John rolled 1124 in his final six-game block on games of 218, 166, 187, 183, 186 and 184.

John Ferraro of Kingston apparently has failed in his bid for a semi-final berth in the National Singles bowling tournament in Chicago.

With a 3400 total at the end of 18 games, the Bowlodrome proprietor needed a hefty series yesterday but failed to get it.

The scores for his fourth block were not available.

LEADING THE field at the start of today's semi-final round are a couple of Detroit veterans, Ray Lubanski and Dolores Wroblewski, who are familiar to All Star fans.

Lubanski is in front in the men's division with a 24-game total of 5,105, a 61 pin edge over a fellow townsman, Tom Hennessey, who has 5,044.

Miss Wroblewski doesn't have quite as comfortable a margin with her 3,096 for 16 games, which is only 14 pins ahead of Doris Porter of Los Angeles. Miss Porter has 3,082.

BOTH THE MEN and women will engage in a double semi-final round. The men keglers will roll 12 games and the women 8 after which the high 14 scorers in each division, plus the first four-day pinnage, will gain the finals.

The 14 will be joined in the head-to-head match play starting tomorrow by the four seeded stars, including the two defending champions, Steve Nagy, Cleveland, and Sylvia Wene, Philadelphia. The other two are Don Carter, St. Louis, and Mrs. Marion Ladewig, of Grand Rapids, Mich., both former titleholders.

Roosevelt Triumphs, 90-44, As Huguenots Take 4th Loss

Shooting with red-hot accuracy, Roosevelt High School overran New Paltz Central yesterday afternoon at the Huguenots' court, 90-44.

The loss was the fourth in five games for Larry Johnson's basketball players.

ROOSEVELT kept Darrell Harp, the Huguenots' high-scoring center, bottled up most of the game. With Harp hitting below his 30-per-game average and with rebounder George Power ineligible to play, the home team was out of contention early.

Roosevelt, hitting on 70 per cent of its field goal attempts, roared to a 22-6 lead at the end of the first period and was in front by 45-10 at halftime.

Little Joe Manfredi led the winners, scoring 16 points. Jimmy DePew added 12, Tom Cerulli 11 and Dick Wager 10.

JACKIE RASMUSSEN rimmed 14 to pace the New Paltz scoring. Harp registered 13. The latter now has 131 points in five outings.

Pro Football Attendance Sets All-Time Record

(By The Associated Press)

Professional football played to the biggest crowds in its history this fall, an Associated Press survey of the 12 National Football League cities showed today. Attendance was up approximately 12.7 per cent over 1954, also a record.

The clubs reported 1955 attendance hit 2,722,685 compared with 2,415,948 in 1954. Average crowd for 72 league games in 1955 was a record 37,815.

This is the fifth straight year that attendance has shown a gain, which began when the National League merged in 1949 with the now defunct All-America Conference.

Arlington Squad Notches Cage Win, 78-59

Three Players Pace AHS Quintet

Paced by three tall scoring stars, Arlington High School handed a game Highland High basketball team its third straight defeat yesterday at the downcounty gym, 78-59.

The big trio of Steve Sandberg, Dick Miller and Dickie Blaich—all standing six feet-three or better accounted 47 points. And their work under the backboards finally wore down the shorter Highlanders.

BOB RELYEA'S HHS quintet kept pace with its foe for the better part of three periods. Then Arlington pulled away.

Blaich and Miller, hitting with jump shots, led a second-period AHS surge that put the visitors ahead 32-27 at halftime. Sandberg took over in the third session, racking up 12 points.

Sandberg finished the game with 21 markers. Blaich and Miller scored 18 each and Arnie Elkind 10 for the winners.

ESAU McCLINTON and John Gersch, the football halfbacks, scored 17 apiece for Highland. Bobby Valentino and Charley Crimi, another set of grid stars, registered 10 apiece.

Warriors, Knicks Take NBA Games; Hennessy Hero

(By The Associated Press)

The Philadelphia Warriors in the NBA are stacked with so many high scorers that Larry Hennessy, an outstanding player in college rarely gets off the bench.

But the Warriors needed him last night—and how!

Hennessy, formerly of Villanova, sank a long set shot with only 20 seconds remaining to give the Eastern Division leaders a pulsating 109-108 victory over the Boston Celtics.

THE TRIUMPH gave Philadelphia a 13-5 record. Neil Johnston of the Warriors and Bob Cousy shared game scoring honors with 29 points apiece.

In the only other game, the New York Knickerbockers led all the way to trip the hapless Minneapolis Lakers 98-91. The Knicks remained two games behind Philadelphia while the Lakers dropped further into the Western Division dungeon.

Ferraro Rolls Out In Singles

John Ferraro of Kingston failed to qualify for the semi-finals of the National All Star bowling tournament in Chicago yesterday.

His total of 4524 for 18 games was far short of the 4700 estimated necessary to make the semis.

John rolled 1124 in his final six-game block on games of 218, 166, 187, 183, 186 and 184.

John Ferraro of Kingston apparently has failed in his bid for a semi-final berth in the National Singles bowling tournament in Chicago.

With a 3400 total at the end of 18 games, the Bowlodrome proprietor needed a hefty series yesterday but failed to get it.

The scores for his fourth block were not available.

LEADING THE field at the start of today's semi-final round are a couple of Detroit veterans, Ray Lubanski and Dolores Wroblewski, who are familiar to All Star fans.

Lubanski is in front in the men's division with a 24-game total of 5,105, a 61 pin edge over a fellow townsman, Tom Hennessey, who has 5,044.

Miss Wroblewski doesn't have quite as comfortable a margin with her 3,096 for 16 games, which is only 14 pins ahead of Doris Porter of Los Angeles. Miss Porter has 3,082.

BOTH THE MEN and women will engage in a double semi-final round. The men keglers will roll 12 games and the women 8 after which the high 14 scorers in each division, plus the first four-day pinnage, will gain the finals.

The 14 will be joined in the head-to-head match play starting tomorrow by the four seeded stars, including the two defending champions, Steve Nagy, Cleveland, and Sylvia Wene, Philadelphia. The other two are Don Carter, St. Louis, and Mrs. Marion Ladewig, of Grand Rapids, Mich., both former titleholders.

Roosevelt Triumphs, 90-44, As Huguenots Take 4th Loss

Shooting with red-hot accuracy, Roosevelt High School overran New Paltz Central yesterday afternoon at the Huguenots' court, 90-44.

The loss was the fourth in five games for Larry Johnson's basketball players.

ROOSEVELT kept Darrell Harp, the Huguenots' high-scoring center, bottled up most of the game. With Harp hitting below his 30-per-game average and with rebounder George Power ineligible to play, the home team was out of contention early.

Roosevelt, hitting on 70 per cent of its field goal attempts, roared to a 22-6 lead at the end of the first period and was in front by 45-10 at halftime.

Little Joe Manfredi led the winners, scoring 16 points. Jimmy DePew added 12, Tom Cerulli 11 and Dick Wager 10.

JACKIE RASMUSSEN rimmed 14 to pace the New Paltz scoring. Harp registered 13. The latter now has 131 points in five outings.

Roosevelt won the jayvee game, 53-27. Walt Dyer scored 11 points and Doug Kerr 10 for the 'Paltz juniors.

KBA Appoints Chichelsky to Executive Board

Jake Chichelsky, former member of the executive board of the Kingston Bowling Association, was named to fill the unexpired term of fourth vice-president during the board's monthly meeting Tuesday night at 277 Fair street.

His appointment followed the resignation of Dick Waltman, present fourth vice-president, who gave up his post in order to accept a position with the Design Engineering Co., of Trenton, N. J.

Waltman began his association with the KBA board during the 1954-55 season when he served as executive committee. He was elected fourth vice-president last April by the board of directors.

CHICHELSKY returns to the KBA official family following four years of earlier service with the board.

He served as executive committeeman during 1950-51 and 1953-54 and as second vice-president in 1951-52 and 1952-53.

His appointment, made last night by President Mannie Colao, will run until the annual elections of 1956.

IT ALSO WAS decided last night that blanks for the 1956 city tournament will be put into the mails to league secretaries Saturday, Dec. 31. The various alley establishments also will have a supply of tournament applications starting Thursday, Jan. 5.

The 1956 tournament will be held at the Ferraro Bowlodrome for the five-man events and at the New Paltz alleys where the minor events are carded.

Helfand's Edict Stirs TV Pinch Norris Believes

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—The International Boxing Club, which usually winds up on the long end in its promotions, was put "in the middle" by the New York State Athletic Commission action in "outlawing" the Boxing Guild of New York.

So said Jim Norris, president of the IBC which promotes the weekly Wednesday and Friday night television fights across the country.

"We considered the Guild as a union or bargaining committee," Norris said. "Our main problem with the Guild was television. When we signed with them we knew we'd be all right for a year.

"NOW, WE'RE in the middle. The Guild has authority. I wouldn't want to have to deal with 200 or 300 managers separately."

Norris said the IBC's contract with the Guild calling for $4,000 for each main event fighter on TV extends through June and "should be carried out."

Norris' problem is that TV sponsors want their shows mapped out four or five weeks in advance.

'FIGHTER OF THE YEAR' — Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, 28, was named "Fighter of the Year" by the New York Boxing Writers Assn., and will receive its Edward J. Neil memorial plaque next month. (AP Wirephoto).

Basilio Named Fighter of Year By Big Margin

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, rookie welterweight Bob Murphy of Boston and publicity man Harry Mendel, today were named to receive the Boxing Writers Association's three main awards.

Basilio, 28-year-old ex-Marine from Chittenango, N. Y., was voted the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as "Fighter of the Year." Murphy, undefeated, 22-year-old 147-pound prospect, was chosen the "Rookie of the Year." Mendel, 62-year-old former promoter, matchmaker and newspaperman, was singled out for the James J. Walker memorial plaque, "for long and meritorious service to boxing over a period of years."

The award-winning trio will be honored at the BWA's annual dinner Jan. 19.

BASILIO, a pro eight years, won the 147-pound crown from Tony De Marco by stopping the hard-hitting Bostonian in the 12th round of a thrilling fight in Syracuse, June 10. He came from behind to win the title and he did it the same way in his return with De Marco in Boston, Nov. 30. That fight also ended in the 12th round.

He is unbeaten in his last 15 fights over a two-year span. His record is 48-11.

Colgate Shades Columbia, 67-66

(By The Associated Press)

Colgate basketball fans today still were trying to catch their breaths after the stress and strain of last night's 67-66 upset dumping of Columbia.

Joe Stratton sank the decisive two-point basket for Colgate 35 seconds before the final buzzer. Then, with two seconds to go, Columbia's Ted Dwyer missed with a length-of-the-court prayer shot.

The buzzer sounded, fans thought the game was over. But it developed that Columbia had called a time out just before the shot. The sound of the referee's whistle had been lost in the chaos of the Columbia gym.

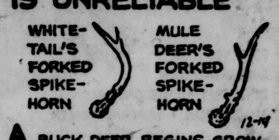
COLUMBIA'S Mort Levine barely missed with a shot [illegible], leaving no doubt that the Lions had suffered their first setback of the season.

At Peoria, Ill., Canisius went down to its second defeat in a week, 73-66 at the hands of undefeated Bradley. The Griffins' record stands at 2-2. John McCathy of Canisius was the game's high scorer with 28 points.

In other upstate games: Oneonta Teachers squeaked past Albany Teachers 57-56; Lemoyne, paced Dan Cavellie of Oswego, trounced Oswego Teachers 97-55 in Cavellier's home town, and Alfred edged out Clarkson 81-79 in a game that was tied eight times.

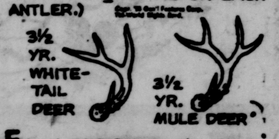
SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By hal sharp

AGE BY ANTLERS IS UNRELIABLE



A BUCK DEER BEGINS GROWING HORNS IN HIS 2ND SUMMER. THAT FALL, WHEN 1½ YEARS OLD, HE HAS SLENDER SPIKES, OR SMALL FORKS IF ROBUST.

AT 2½, BUCK HAS HEAVIER AND LONGER FORKS (SOMETIMES HAS 3 POINTS ON EACH ANTLER.)



FULLY MATURED AT 3½, BUCK HAS 4 OR 5 POINTS PER ANTLER. HE MAY GROW THE SAME NUMBER EACH YEAR, OR ADD IF QUITE VIRILE, UNTIL 8 YEARS OLD. ANTLERS ARE HEAVIER EACH YEAR; OLD BUCK'S HAVE SHORT CLUMPS, OR STUBBED SPIKES.

The bald eagle is more abundant in Alaska than in other portions of the United States.

Herb Score TopRookie

(By The Associated Press)

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Herb Score of the Cleveland Indians, who fanned 245 batters to set a record for most strikeouts by a pitcher in his first major league season, was named the American League's 1955 rookie-of-the-year today.

The 22-year-old southpaw received 18 votes in the balloting of the 24 committeemen of the Baseball Writers Assn.

ONLY TWO OTHER players received votes. Infielder Billy Klaus of the Boston Red Sox was picked by five of the selectors. First baseman Norm Zauchin, also of the Red Sox, was named on one ballot.

Score's strikeout mark eclipsed the previous record of 227, established by Grover Cleveland Alexander in his rookie season with the Philadelphia Phils in 1911. Score, a 6-2, 185-pound fastballer won 16 games, while losing 10. He ranked fourth in the earned run listings with 2.85 average.

Says Doctors Released

New Delhi, India, Dec. 14 (AP)—Dr. C. R. Mani, the World Health Organization's (WHO) director for southeast Asia, announced here today two WHO doctors kidnaped by insurgents from Maymyo, Burma, on Dec. 12, have been released. The two were Italian Dr. Mario Postigione and Burmese Dr. M. L. Sur. Both have returned to their Maymyo headquarters.

Baby Arrives, Car Leaves

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Ruey C. Collins parked his car three parking meters from police headquarters at 4:30 a. m. and went into a hospital. Several hours later he emerged as the proud father of a baby girl but found his car missing. Overtime parking? Car towed away? Nope, the police said. They knew nothing about it.

Byrd Nurses Injuries

Aboard USS Glacier, Dec. 14 (AP) — Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, veteran explorer now making his fifth trip to the Antarctic, today, was nursing minor injuries—the first he ever received en route to the bottom of the world. Byrd suffered cuts and bruises when a chain securing his cabin chair to a deck snapped, sending him sailing into a bulkhead. The accident occurred during a two-day gale that buffeted the 8,500-ton Glacier, the navy's newest and biggest icebreaker.

Some Prefer Segregation

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Some Negro community groups in the South have expressed a preference for continuation of segregated schools, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People reports. An NAACP spoeksman emphasized, however, that such cases are "rare exceptions." The statement was made yesterday in connection with a petition in Henderson, Ky., by Negro residents asking the board of education to erect a consolidated school in the county for colored students.

First Aid House

Greenville, S. C. (AP)—If you must have a wreck here, it would be a good idea to try to arrange it near the Sherwood Court apartments. Five doctors interning at Greenville General Hospital live in the apartment house. At almost any hour a doctor is readily available.

KBA Appoints Chichelsky to Executive Board

Jake Chichelsky, former member of the executive board of the Kingston Bowling Association, was named to fill the unexpired term of fourth vice-president during the board's monthly meeting Tuesday night at 277 Fair street.

His appointment followed the resignation of Dick Waltman, present fourth vice-president, who gave up his post in order to accept a position with the Design Engineering Co., of Trenton, N. J.

Waltman began his association with the KBA board during the 1954-55 season when he served as executive committee. He was elected fourth vice-president last April by the board of directors.

CHICHELSKY returns to the KBA official family following four years of earlier service with the board.

He served as executive committeeman during 1950-51 and 1953-54 and as second vice-president in 1951-52 and 1952-53.

Helfand's Edict Stirs TV Pinch Norris Believes

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—The International Boxing Club, which usually winds up on the long end in its promotions, was put "in the middle" by the New York State Athletic Commission action in "outlawing" the Boxing Guild of New York.

So said Jim Norris, president of the IBC which promotes the weekly Wednesday and Friday night television fights across the country.

"We considered the Guild as a union or bargaining committee," Norris said. "Our main problem with the Guild was television. When we signed with them we knew we'd be all right for a year.

"NOW, WE'RE in the middle. The Guild has authority. I wouldn't want to have to deal with 200 or 300 managers separately."

Norris said the IBC's contract with the Guild calling for $4,000 for each main event fighter on TV extends through June and "should be carried out."

Norris' problem is that TV sponsors want their shows mapped out four or five weeks in advance.

'FIGHTER OF THE YEAR' — Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, 28, was named "Fighter of the Year" by the New York Boxing Writers Assn., and will receive its Edward J. Neil memorial plaque next month. (AP Wirephoto).

Basilio Named Fighter of Year By Big Margin

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, rookie welterweight Bob Murphy of Boston and publicity man Harry Mendel, today were named to receive the Boxing Writers Association's three main awards.

Basilio, 28-year-old ex-Marine from Chittenango, N. Y., was voted the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as "Fighter of the Year." Murphy, undefeated, 22-year-old 147-pound prospect, was chosen the "Rookie of the Year," Mendel, 62-year-old former promoter, matchmaker and newspaperman, was singled out for the James J. Walker memorial plaque, "for long and meritorious service to boxing over a period of years."

The award-winning trio will be honored at the BWA's annual dinner Jan. 19.

BASILIO, a pro eight years, won the 147-pound crown from Tony De Marco by stopping the hard-hitting Bostonian in the 12th round of a thrilling fight in Syracuse, June 10. He came from behind to win the title and he did it the same way in his return with De Marco in Boston, Nov. 30. That fight also ended in the 12th round.

He is unbeaten in his last 15 fights over a two-year span. His record is 48-11.

Colgate Shades Columbia, 67-66

(By The Associated Press)

Colgate basketball fans today still were trying to catch their breaths after the stress and strain of last night's 67-66 upset dumping of Columbia.

Joe Stratton sank the decisive two-point basket for Colgate 35 seconds before the final buzzer. Then, with two seconds to go, Columbia's Ted Dwyer missed with a length-of-the-court prayer shot.

The buzzer sounded, fans thought the game was over. But it developed that Columbia had called a time out just before the shot. The sound of the referee's whistle had been lost in the chaos of the Columbia gym.

COLUMBIA'S Mort Levine barely missed with a shot [illegible], leaving no doubt that the Lions had suffered their first setback of the season.

At Peoria, Ill., Canisius went down to its second defeat in a week, 73-66 at the hands of undefeated Bradley. The Griffins' record stands at 2-2. John McCathy of Canisius was the game's high scorer with 28 points.

In other upstate games: Oneonta Teachers squeaked past Albany Teachers 57-56; Lemoyne, paced Dan Cavellie of Oswego, trounced Oswego Teachers 97-55 in Cavellier's home town, and Alfred edged out Clarkson 81-79 in a game that was tied eight times.

Herb Score TopRookie

(By The Associated Press)

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Herb Score of the Cleveland Indians, who fanned 245 batters to set a record for most strikeouts by a pitcher in his first major league season, was named the American League's 1955 rookie-of-the-year today.

The 22-year-old southpaw received 18 votes in the balloting of the 24 committeemen of the Baseball Writers Assn.

ONLY TWO OTHER players received votes. Infielder Billy Klaus of the Boston Red Sox was picked by five of the selectors. First baseman Norm Zauchin, also of the Red Sox, was named on one ballot.

Score's strikeout mark eclipsed the previous record of 227, established by Grover Cleveland Alexander in his rookie season with the Philadelphia Phils in 1911. Score, a 6-2, 185-pound fastballer won 16 games, while losing 10. He ranked fourth in the earned run listings with 2.85 average.

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Ruey C. Collins parked his car three parking meters from police headquarters at 4:30 a. m. and went into a hospital. Several hours later he emerged as the proud father of a baby girl but found his car missing. Overtime parking? Car towed away? Nope, the police said. They knew nothing about it.

Byrd Nurses Injuries

Aboard USS Glacier, Dec. 14 (AP) — Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, veteran explorer now making his fifth trip to the Antarctic, today, was nursing minor injuries—the first he ever received en route to the bottom of the world. Byrd suffered cuts and bruises when a chain securing his cabin chair to a deck snapped, sending him sailing into a bulkhead. The accident occurred during a two-day gale that buffeted the 8,500-ton Glacier, the navy's newest and biggest icebreaker.

Some Prefer Segregation

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Some Negro community groups in the South have expressed a preference for continuation of segregated schools, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People reports. An NAACP spoeksman emphasized, however, that such cases are "rare exceptions." The statement was made yesterday in connection with a petition in Henderson, Ky., by Negro residents asking the board of education to erect a consolidated school in the county for colored students.

Supervisors Are Asked by SPCA For Appropriation

An appeal for an appropriation to assist in carrying on the SPCA work in Ulster county was made to the board of supervisors Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stoutenburgh of Glenford.

Prior to the routine business of the board they spoke in behalf of the association and asked that the board make available moneys to make possible the retaining of a full time person who would serve throughout the county area.

Stoutenburgh said the work thus far had been carried out through donations, cake sales and other means of raising funds. Last year an appropriation was sought but the board took no action. He appealed for a sum which would make possible the retention of some "elderly person" who could devote his attention to the work of taking care of stray animals. By keeping stray animals confined, Stoutenburgh said, many diseases common to animals could be better controlled, including rabies. He cited the work which has been done at the SPCA shelter through volunteer assistance and by donations.

Mrs. Stoutenburgh spoke briefly, saying that stray animals, wild dogs and other animals were disease carriers and wild dogs traveling in packs did considerable damage annually to farm stock.

Supervisor Peter Williams of Saugerties spoke on the matter and suggested an appropriation should be made and if such an appropriation were made it would be money well spent.

Chairman Charles Relyea referred the matter to the budget committee to report back at the next meeting.

Aussie Deadlock Seen

Sydney, Australia, Dec. 14 (AP) A deadlock appeared to be shaping up today for the new federal Senate. With the count from Saturday's general election nearing completion, the governing Liberal-Country party coalition probably will control 30 of the 60 seats. In such a setup, the anti-Communist Labor Party likely would hold the balance of Power. It was expected to win 2 Senate seats, to 28 for the regular Labor party. The splinter labor group, composed largely of Roman Catholics, broke off from the main party on the ground it was too tolerant of communism.

To Keep Quotas

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The surplus-plagued cotton crop will be grown under federal limitations again next year. In a referendum lacking in interest, growers voted yesterday to continue Agriculture Department marketing quotas which seek a crop next year a third smaller than that this year. Preliminary returns from the 21 cotton-producing states gave 267,235 votes for quotas and 20,191 against. This was a favorable majority of 93 per cent—far above the two-thirds margin required by law. In a similar referendum last year the majority was 92 per cent. The bulk of the estimated 1,300,000 growers who were eligible to vote failed to cast ballots.

Supervisors Are Asked by SPCA For Appropriation

An appeal for an appropriation to assist in carrying on the SPCA work in Ulster county was made to the board of supervisors Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stoutenburgh of Glenford.

Prior to the routine business of the board they spoke in behalf of the association and asked that the board make available moneys to make possible the retaining of a full time person who would serve throughout the county area.

Stoutenburgh said the work thus far had been carried out through donations, cake sales and other means of raising funds. Last year an appropriation was sought but the board took no action. He appealed for a sum which would make possible the retention of some "elderly person" who could devote his attention to the work of taking care of stray animals. By keeping stray animals confined, Stoutenburgh said, many diseases common to animals could be better controlled, including rabies. He cited the work which has been done at the SPCA shelter through volunteer assistance and by donations.

Mrs. Stoutenburgh spoke briefly, saying that stray animals, wild dogs and other animals were disease carriers and wild dogs traveling in packs did considerable damage annually to farm stock.

Supervisor Peter Williams of Saugerties spoke on the matter and suggested an appropriation should be made and if such an appropriation were made it would be money well spent.

Chairman Charles Relyea referred the matter to the budget committee to report back at the next meeting.

Aussie Deadlock Seen

Sydney, Australia, Dec. 14 (AP) A deadlock appeared to be shaping up today for the new federal Senate. With the count from Saturday's general election nearing completion, the governing Liberal-Country party coalition probably will control 30 of the 60 seats. In such a setup, the anti-Communist Labor Party likely would hold the balance of Power. It was expected to win 2 Senate seats, to 28 for the regular Labor party. The splinter labor group, composed largely of Roman Catholics, broke off from the main party on the ground it was too tolerant of communism.

To Keep Quotas

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The surplus-plagued cotton crop will be grown under federal limitations again next year. In a referendum lacking in interest, growers voted yesterday to continue Agriculture Department marketing quotas which seek a crop next year a third smaller than that this year. Preliminary returns from the 21 cotton-producing states gave 267,235 votes for quotas and 20,191 against. This was a favorable majority of 93 per cent—far above the two-thirds margin required by law. In a similar referendum last year the majority was 92 per cent. The bulk of the estimated 1,300,000 growers who were eligible to vote failed to cast ballots.
